BRITAIN SENDS WARSHIP WARNING TO CHILE

WATER DECISION

ALL RESTRICTIONS
TO BE REMOVED

As from 4 o'clock this afternoon, all water restrictions throughout the Colony will be removed and a 24-hour supply be provided through the mains.

This will mean the disuse of the street fountains, the new groups of which will be gradually removed.

The welcome change in the situation is due to the heavy fall of rain in the past twenty-four hours, which had added 228 million gallons to the reservoirs up the seven o'clock this morning. The total in storage is now 1,376 million gallons, being represented by 1,029 on the island and 347 on the mainland.

OBSERVATORY RETURNS.

Observatory returns show that for the twenty-four hours ended at 10.30 this morning, the rain fall totalled no less than 6.31 inches.

The heaviest fall occurred in the three hours from 10.30 a.m. to 1.30 p.m. yesterday, namely, 5.20 inches. From 10.30 to 11.30, the fall was 1.34 inch, from 11.30 to 12.30 the fall was 2.18 inches, and from 12.30 to 1.30 the fall was 1.20 inch.

The year's rainfall now amounts to 31.84 inches, as compared with an average for the period of 31.02 inches.

WIMBLEDON SEEDING

F. J. PERRY RANKED
ABOVE AUSTIN

London, June 14. The seedings for the Wimbledon Championships, which commence on Monday next, were announced today, revealing that the American challengers are fairly evenly distributed through the draw.

Mrs. Helen Wills-Moody naturally heads the women, and Miss Helen Jacobs is ranked No. 5.

The men's singles represents one curiosity, the elevation of Sydney Wood above H. W. Austin. This is doubtless accounted for by the lack of complete data regarding Austin's form this season, though his recent victory over Gregory Mangin was convincing enough.

MEN'S LIST.

The men's seedings follow:
H. Cochet ..... 1
Ellsworth Vines ..... 2
E. X. Shields ..... 3
F. J. Perry ..... 4
Sydney Wood ..... 5
H. W. Austin ..... 6
J. Borotra ..... 7
Crawford (Australia) .. 8

Wilmer Allison and J. van Ryn head the men's doubles and Ellsworth Vines and Mrs. Moody head the seedings in the mixed doubles. Reuter.

DE VALERA FOR OTTAWA

IRISH DELEGATION ANNOUNCED.

London, June 14. Arrangements completed today for the representation of the Irish Free State at the Ottawa Conference provided that Mr. de Valera will head the delegation, accompanied by Mr. Lomax, the Minister of Industry and Commerce, Mr. Ryan, the Minister of Lands and Fisheries, and probably Senator Connolly and Senator Johnson, the last representing Labour. British Wireless.

H.M.S. DURBAN ORDERED TO CALLAO

READY FOR EMERGENCIES

London, June 14.

THE British light-cruiser, H.M.S. Durban, attached to the South American Division of the America and West Indies Squadron, and flying the pennant of Commodore R. H. O. Lane-Poole, O.B.E., is proceeding to Callao, Peru, in order to be ready in case of need for the protection of British interests in Chile.

The Durban is the flagship of the South American Division. Her commander is Commander J. C. Annesley, D.S.O., and she carries six 6-inch guns.

She was formerly on the China Station.—British Wireless.

SEIZURE OF CUSTOMS

BRITAIN AND MANCHURIA

PROPOSE TO TAKE NO ACTION

London, June 14.

Britain's attitude to the Japanese control over Manchuria was today again revealed as entirely negative.

The Government was asked to forward a protest to Tokyo regarding the retention of the funds of the Chinese Maritime Customs in Manchuria, but Captain Anthony Eden indicated that the British Government did not propose to take any action in the matter.

Asked to state the position as regards the Customs administration in Manchuria and whether the British Government would make representations to the Japanese Government insisting that the whole of the revenues should be regarded as definitely allocated to the Chinese Government administration, Captain Eden provided the stock answer.

DIFFICULT AND ANOMALOUS Present conditions in Manchuria, he said, necessarily created a difficult and anomalous situation in regard to the Customs administration.

His latest information was that hitherto the new authorities in Manchuria had not interfered with the administration itself though there was difficulty in remitting the surplus of the Customs revenue collected in Manchurian ports to Shanghai.

In the circumstances, he said, it hardly seemed desirable to make the suggested representations. Reuter.

SQUIRES' ELECTION DEBACLE

PARTY WIPED OUT

(Reuter's Special Service).

London, June 14.

That the United Newfoundland Party, composed of the Conservative elements in the Opposition, have scored an overwhelming victory over the Liberals, led by the ex-Premier, Sir Richard Squires, in the Newfoundland general elections, is evident from the latest despatches from St. Johns.

The results which have already been declared reveal that the Opposition have already won twenty seats while only one Liberal member has been returned.

Both Sir Richard Squires and Lady Squires were defeated in their constituencies.

Only five results are still to come in. The election was a sequel to the recent political disturbances when Sir Richard Squires was forced to flee from an angry mob, which besieged the Parliamentary Buildings demanding his resignation. He was rescued by a priest.

NULLAH TORRENT TRAGEDY

WOMAN SWEEPED OUT TO SEA BY SUDDEN TERRIFIC RUSH OF WATER

The heavy rain yesterday forenoon transformed a big nullah at Taihang into a swirling torrent, with the result that one man nearly lost his life when he was swept away by the flood, while a woman is believed to have been carried out to sea and drowned.

In its course, the torrent swept through the village of Taihang, and a Chinese coolie who ventured within reach, was carried off his feet and swept downstream. Fortunately, his career was stopped when dashed against a group of rocks jutting out from the bed of the nullah. He desperately clung to his rather precarious position until rescued by the police. The man, Chang Chau-heung, aged 29, a P.W.D. employee, was found to be suffering from rather severe injuries, and was removed to the Government Civil Hospital. Later, the police were informed that a woman who was last seen washing clothes in the nullah, was missing. Just before the intensive downpour before noon, she went to an upper reach of the nullah and relatives who missed her came to the conclusion that she must have met with some accident. A search was initiated with the assistance of the police from the Bay View Station, but no trace of the woman was found. It is now believed that she was swept down the nullah and carried into the harbour. Similar mishaps are known to have occurred previously when the nullah was flooded in similar circumstances.

CONGRESS TRAGEDY

SUDDEN DEATH OF MEMBER

London, June 14.

Mr. Edward Everett Eslick, the Democratic member of the House of Representatives for the Seventh Tennessee District, collapsed and died in the House today.

He was addressing Congress in favour of the Bill for the immediate payment of the War Bonus to the Veterans when he fell to the ground and died almost immediately.

The House was adjourned in consequence.

Mr. Eslick had been a member of Congress since 1925 and was a lawyer by profession. He was 60 years of age. Reuter's American Service.

FIGHTING ROUND HARBIN

SEVERAL SHARP SKIRMISHES

Harbin, June 15.

Several brisk skirmishes have occurred to the south of Harbin where raiding parties of anti-Manchukuo troops are exceedingly active, carrying out lightning attacks on the Manchukuo and Japanese outposts.

With the recent defeat of the anti-Manchukuo forces on both sides of the city, the Japanese military authorities now declare that Harbin is no longer in danger of occupation by the "insurgents."

Traffic between Harbin and Fuchien is being suspended every night between the hours of 9 p.m. and 7 a.m.

The Manchukuo authorities, meanwhile have stopped recruiting into their army, so as to prevent unreliable and undesirable elements from joining the colours. Several units of the Manchukuo Army have recently deserted. Reuter.

THE DISARMAMENT PARLEY

AWAITING RESULT OF DISCUSSIONS

London, June 14.

At a private meeting of the Disarmament Conference Procedure Committee today a resolution was adopted the effect of which is to suspend the main work of the Conference until the conclusion of the discussions now taking place between representatives of the Big Powers. British Wireless.

A broker, Wong Wing-heung, living at 13, Seikung Street, has reported to the police that a man to whom he handed a bangle worth $300 with the view to sale, has absconded with the article.

STRIKE ULTIMATUM

SABOTAGE FEARS

SHANGHAI PHONE DISPUTE

(Special to "Telegraph")

Shanghai, June 15.

Threats of sabotage by the strikers of the telephone company appear to lie behind an ultimatum issued by their leaders today.

The development is one which is regarded seriously and trouble is to be feared. More than a thousand Chinese employees of the telephone company are participating in the strike, making demands which have been refused by the company.

Hitherto, the strike has not interfered with the normal working of the telephone system which has been carried on largely through voluntary helpers.

RESORT TO THREATS.

The failure of the strikers to cause any embarrassment to the company through the simple process of striking has doubtless persuaded them to resort to threats.

The ultimatum delivered to the company declares that the responsibility for any untoward incidents will rest with the company unless a satisfactory reply is given to the demands of the strikers.

The Strike Committee characterises the Company's statement that it has not employed White Russians as "a slander, an insult and intrigue."

MODIFIED DEMANDS

The strikers, incidentally, have modified their demands, but are insisting upon an increase of pay for all workers, double pay for Sunday work, the reinstatement of all dismissed workers, restraint from any further dismissals and no increase in the telephone charges. Reuter.

BEHIND SCENES AT GENEVA

IMPORTANT TALKS INFERRED

London, June 14.

Statesmen in Geneva spent today mainly in informal conversations.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and Sir John Simon were the luncheon guests of Mr. Hugh Gibson, the chief United States delegate to the Disarmament Conference and in the afternoon conferred with Signor Grandi. The British and French Premiers also had a long conversation this morning. British Wireless.

SIR ROBERT HO TUNG

BUSY PROGRAMME IN LONDON

London, June 14.

Sir Robert Ho Tung, who has been busily engaged in explaining the Chinese situation in trading, financial and shipping quarters in London, was entertained to luncheon today by the Chinese Consul-General.

Among those also present were Mr. A. C. Coo and Mr. C. T. Wang. Sir Robert is probably leaving for the Continent in a few weeks time. Reuter.

KENT WOOD MURDERS

SOLDIER BROUGHT TO BAY

ARREST DRAMA

MAN MISSING FROM SHORNCLIFFE

London, June 14.

The man arrested at Barnet this morning after a shooting duel with the police who tracked him down by means of bloodhounds, is revealed as a soldier.

He has been charged with the wilful triple murder of the three women, whose bodies were discovered at King's Wood yesterday.

The accused is

James Thomas Collin, described as a private serving in a regiment stationed at Shorncliffe, near Folkestone.

The regiment stationed at Shorncliffe is the 2nd Batt. The Buffs (East Kent Regiment) and presumably he is from this battalion.

STORY OF ARREST.

The story of his arrest is dramatically featured in today's newspapers. The police suspecting that the murderer was armed and probably roaming about woods in the vicinity, secured the countryside all through the night without success.

Soon after dawn, however, a man with a gun was observed to make a bid for liberty on sighting a police constable. A hue and cry was immediately set up and the fugitive soldier was brought to bay.

TENSE MOMENTS.

The man armed with a gun and a police constable with a revolver faced each other, watching every movement warily, neither daring to make the first attempt to shoot, the officer obviously being desirous not to do so unless compelled by circumstances.

While the soldier's attention was kept in his direction by the tension of the moment, a second constable who had appeared on the scene unobserved, stalked him carefully, and with a final dash rendered him hors de combat.

THE VICTIMS.

The victims of the tragedy, it will be recalled, were Mrs. Annie Swift, 65, the licensee of Ye Olde Sportsman's Inn, near Whitstable, Mrs. Jennie Stemp, 35, her daughter, Miss Peggy Stemp, 13, her granddaughter.

The bodies were all found within a few hundred yards of each other, partially buried in the undergrowth of King's Wood, near Asford, Kent. Reuter.

SEIZURE OF ALFONSO'S PROPERTY

NEW SPANISH GOVT. DECREE

(Reuter's Special Service).

Madrid, June 14.

The immediate attachment of ex-King Alfonso's private property, including the personal effects and furniture, bonds, current accounts with the National Bank are provided in a new Government decree issued today.

Among the passengers leaving today by the steamer Manzanera, Navarin, proprietor of the Talmir Silk Store, and family. They are visiting Japan on a pleasure trip.

J. B. Hobbs, who created a new cricket record yesterday.

CRICKET

Hobbs Breaks Record

Thrilling Games on Several Grounds

London, June 14.

J. B. Hobbs, the world-famous England and Surrey batsman, not out in his fiftieth year, established a new record in cricket annals today when he completed a century against Essex for the second time in the match.

The feat of scoring a hundred in such innings brought his total of such achievements to six, beating the records of C. B. Fry, who accomplished it on five occasions, on four occasions for Sussex and once for Hampshire. On three other occasions, C. B. Fry failed by only one run.

100 and 100 v. Warwick in 1909.
104 and 143 v. Cambridge in 1925.
101 and 101 v. Somerset in 1925.
112 and 104 v. Hampshire in 1927.
137 and 111 v. Glamorgan in 1930.
113 and 119 v. Warwick in 1932.

Not out.

Surrey defeated Warwick by nine wickets, hitting up 252 for 100 and 143 in the fourth innings. Middlesex today secured a brilliant victory over Worcester by a margin of eight wickets. The metropolitan side were 118 runs in arrears on the first innings, but a wonderful bowling feat by R. W. V. Robins changed the whole complexion of the game, and Middlesex made 209 for 2 to secure victory.

The All-India team put up their highest score of their tour against Lancashire, hitting up 493 runs. Naidu and Amar Singh completed three-figure scores.

Seasonal was the defeat of Nottingham by Somerset. An advantage of 23 runs was secured by Somerset on the first innings, and but excellent bowling by Larwood produced what appeared to be an easy task for the Nottingham batsmen. They failed badly however, being defeated by 13 runs.

Perhaps the most remarkable victory was registered by Hampshire at Southampton. Derbyshire declared with eight wickets down in their second innings, setting Hants the task of scoring 307 runs to win. The southerners went out for the runs, Arnold and Philip Mead getting right on top of the bowling and success was secured by a margin of six wickets.

Further details will be found on the Sports Page.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney.

While the general practice is for the declarer to pick up the trump, the declarer in the following hand must use his trump for ruffing purposes in order to to game.

The Bidding.

The hand was played at contract and South opened the bidding with one heart. West passed, and North bid one spade. East passed and South boldly jumped the contract to four spades.

The Play.

East has the opening lead and it is quite a problem. He does not care to open the ace of hearts as that suit has been bid by South. His club suit is only three cards long. He selects trump for the opening lead, and leads the eight of spades which North, the declarer, wins with the nine-spot. North's next play is the singleton eight of hearts and if East goes up with the ace, it would be an easy matter for declarer to go game.

East's proper play is a small heart. Dummy plays the queen which holds the trick. Declarer leads a small heart from dummy and trumps in his own hand with the 10 of spades. His next play is the three of clubs which East wins with the ace of clubs. East returns another spade which the declarer wins with the queen. Declarer then plays the nine of clubs winning in the dummy with the jack, and leads the nine of hearts trumping in his own hand with his last spade—the ace. Declarer then leads a small diamond to the dummy's king which West wins with the ace, and now all the opponents can take in their ace of hearts. If a diamond is returned, the declarer will trump in the dummy with the jack of spades, lead the king of spades which picks up the last trump and the king and queen of clubs are good in dummy.

By refusing to lead trump, North, the declarer, has successfully made his contract of four odd.

A THANKS BADGE.

GIRL GUIDES' PRESENTATION TO MRS. R. M. DYER

A very pleasant and informal Girl Guide ceremony was witnessed at Government House on Tuesday morning, when Mrs. R. M. Dyer, who has been Colony Treasurer for the past ten years, ever since the inception of Guiding in Hongkong, was presented with a gold "Thanks Badge." This badge, which is one of the greatest tokens of esteem a Guide can show, was given to Mrs. Dyer by Mrs. W. T. Southern, Colony Commissioner, on behalf of the Executive Committee.

Those present included Mrs. T. H. King, Mrs. H. T. Cressy, Mrs. E. R. Hallifax, Mrs. J. R. Wood, Mrs. A. R. H. Phillips, Mrs. R. H. Kotewall, Mrs. W. G. Robertson, Mrs. W. J. Anderson, Mrs. Alan Jones, and Mrs. C. E. L. Grist.

THE WEATHER PROPHET.

MR. JEFFRIES EXPLAINS FORECASTING.

ROTARY TALK.

Rotarians yesterday listened with interest to the story of the weather prophet and his work as told by Mr. C. W. Jeffries, F.R.A.S., Director of the local Observatory, at the weekly tiffin of the Rotary Club.

The Hon. Mr. Tso presided, and welcomed the President of the Singapore Rotary Club, Mr. R. St. J. Braddell, who delivered a short address on Rotary.

Mr. Jeffries said: Though the title of this address is somewhat after the style of those delivered by Messrs. Champkin and Bowen-Smith, I cannot hope to emulate the bright manner of either, but I trust to hold your attention for a brief period, and shall endeavour to comply with the request of a distinguished listener and refrain from being "scientific."

Meteorology is not an exact science. This statement was made many years ago, and, in spite of the many advances of recent years, it is still true. In fact the meteorologist who has the duty of forecasting is not regarded as an exact person at all. He is told so frankly by all sorts of people, his efforts are criticised and he is the recipient of more chaff than any member of the community. A sunny disposition and placid temperament are essential if a weather prophet is to function professionally, and continue to dwell amongst his fellow mortals. I am convinced that all the old-time hermits started life as weather prophets, and after careers of varying length and invariably failure, retired to snug caverns, and grew long beards in the hope of disguising themselves.

In many ways, however, we are a harder race to-day for the modern prophet does not retire in disgust to a cavern, he walks boldly into the club, hoping everyone has forgotten what an inefficient individual he is, and as I can state from experience he often gets away with it. Nevertheless there is one occasion when he should be left severely alone, and that is when, having stated that the weather will improve, and in that firm belief betaking himself to Fanling, he experiences with other members of the golf club the felicity of watching a steady downpour of rain for the whole of the time that play is normally possible. It says much for us that no casualty has ever been recorded when the prophet has been reminded of his prophecy.

Prophet Not Spared.

"Shop" is usually regarded as being somewhat outside the pale of conversation during hours of relaxation from toil. Is the weather prophet spared? Not he. How can he expect to be when the weather is the never failing topic of conversation with us all. Yet it seems a little harsh sometimes, for your prophet often believes the old adage that "He who is weather-wise is seldom otherwise." I have known him to have a fair knowledge of interesting and important topics, such as angling, stamp collecting, golf or the league prospects of the Arsenal. I suggest therefore that you encourage him to speak of other things, in order that he may continue to appreciate the society of his fellow men, and not relegate himself to solitude. I once knew a weather prophet who as nearly as possible became a hermit. He laboured amongst you and but few knew him, although his name was a household word, and was on one occasion used in a topical verse of a comic song. He had to make a voyage to Hongkong on the ferry and in doing so met one of his few acquaintances and remarked upon the fine premises the Godown Co. had recently erected. He was really staggered to find that the said premises had been completed for six years. A little insight into the methods employed may interest you, and I heretofore promise not to be profoundly scientific. Firstly I should like to allude to a method that is not used and in doing so I may perhaps be forgiven an anecdote. A distinguished scientist was at one time travelling in Australia when he heard of a farmer in the back-blocks who had achieved a reputation as a weather prophet at the time that an official meteorological service was showing much activity. The scientist called upon the old man and questioned him as to his methods and to his surprise was told "I carefully read what that man in Sydney says and then say the opposite." It is not quite so simple as that, but it may give a hint to any rotarian who would like to add forecasting to his accomplishments.

Essentials of Forecasting.

There are still many worthy citizens who, never having given the matter especial consideration, probably have some idea of elaborate instruments necessary for successful weather forecasting, or of extraordinary ability in some individual. In this connection the public estimate of the comparative ability of the weather forecasters of Far East is interesting. If I premise that the saying concerning prophets and honour in their own country has a particular application hereabouts, you will quickly be able to grade the local product.

The foundation of modern weather forecasting is the synoptic chart or weather map. There are few for whom a map has no fascination; I must confess to a weakness for poring over the details of a map that has lasted since my school days. A little while ago I was examining one in company with an aviator. The map gave some indication of the varying elevation of China, and although probably not of a high degree of accuracy, was extremely interesting, and in many ways could be compared to a weather map. Where height of the land was indicated the weather map would show the height of the barometer, and where the rivers were drawn the weather map would exhibit wind direction. There is also this similarity, that if equal altitudes are shown in an ordinary map by contour lines across these lines from high to low. The wind direction arrows in the synoptic chart have a similar tendency i.e. broadly speaking they fly from regions of high barometer pressure to regions where it is low, across the lines of equal pressure known as isobars.

Here then you have the essentials of the weather map, barometric pressure, wind direction and force from as many stations as can be obtained. These are plotted upon a blank map, isobars are drawn and from the shape that the isobars assume, deductions are made and weather forecasts issued.

The Cyclonic Conditions.

Some conformations of isobars represent the regions of low pressure in which the winds converge in a rough sort of spiral towards the centre. These are cyclones: those occurring in the tropics being known as tropical cyclones, and those of more temperate regions as extra tropical cyclones. While each has certain characteristics the two varieties are generally similar in the main features of cyclonic circulation, and in consequence the term anticyclone is given to areas of high pressure in the earth's atmosphere where the winds show a circulation of a contrary nature.

In addition to the main distributions of pressure exemplified by the cyclone and anticyclone, are forms known as wedges, cols, troughs and secondaries. The latter are usually subsidiary on the weather map to the cyclone and anticyclone, but each has distinctive

WHAT CAUSES TEETHING PAINS?

It is generally conceded nowadays that teething pains result chiefly from the upset in the stomach and bowels which usually accompanies the teething process. The obvious treatment is therefore one which aims at settling these organs. The old-fashioned opiate and narcotic remedies for teething pains, besides being only of temporary effect, were also harmful and often positively dangerous.

All these so-called "soothing remedies" have now been replaced in the modern nursery by Baby's Own Tablets. This splendid stomach and bowel regulator embodies a physician's prescription and has proved remarkably effective for teething pains, although it is guaranteed to contain no opiate or narcotic elements whatsoever. The Tablets are also designed to provide an efficient all-round health-guard for babies and children up to six. Baby's Own Tablets banish stomach troubles and constipation rapidly and gently, relieve flatulence and indigestion, allay feverishness, colds and croup, check diarrhoea, expel worms. All wise parents keep their children well by an occasional dose of the pleasant-tasting children's medicine, Baby's Own Tablets. All chemists can supply you.

Five weather characteristics. To construct a weather map in great detail requires a large number of simultaneous observations, and in the Far East these are not available. The weather maps therefore can only exhibit the broad features of pressure distribution, and it is to the impossibility of reproducing the more detailed features that the failure of many forecasts is due. It must be remembered that although certain types of weather accompany certain forms of pressure distribution, without the details errors are likely to occur. An essential feature of successful forecasting is the ability to anticipate the probable changes in pressure distribution, and here again with only the broadest features delineated on the map before him, the forecaster frequently errs. Sir Napier Shaw has epitomised the matter as follows:

"The practice of weather forecasting depends mainly upon conclusions derived empirically from the study of synoptic weather charts. Its rules are partly formulated and partly exercised by the subconscious induction of prolonged experience." Before leaving this part of the subject, I must explain that the scarcity of observations to which I have referred is only relative. Actually we are in receipt of reports from 45 to 60 stations twice daily, but the difficulty of the problem becomes apparent when it is remembered that the stations are irregularly distributed over some 8 million square miles. The observations are received free of charge to the Hongkong Government from the weather Bureaus of the Far East, by the generosity of the Eastern Extension and Great Northern Telegraph Companies. Several gratuitous radio services are received, among which the collection of observations transmitted personally by Fr. Gherzi of Sicawei deserves honourable mention and our most grateful thanks. The weather services of Japan, Formosa, the Philippines and Indo China send with great promptitude daily, the wireless stations at Pratas is an invaluable outpost and the light houses at Gap Rock and Waglan vigilant sentries on our behalf. Finally the Colony owes a debt to the masters and officers of the mercantile marine who have sent copies of their logs for nearly 50 years. Many vessels now communicate their observations by radio telegraphy and when requested, observe hourly for our benefit. To do this while navigating in the vicinity of a storm centre, is surely in keeping with the finest of the fine traditions of the sea.

CINEMA SCREENING

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES.

When most little girls her age were learning their ABC's Sue Carol was speaking fluent German and French and didn't know a word of English, although she was born and reared in America. Until she was six, Sue received instruction in two European tongues so that when she grew up she could speak them without accent. Sue was born in Chicago. She was christened Evelyn Lederer, but assumed her present name when she joined the motion picture colony. To make sure their daughter was not subjected to outside influences which might affect her language studies, Sue's parents never permitted her to associate with other children. They were also afraid of diseases. Despite these precautions, Sue contracted malaria and almost died. When she recovered the family physician advised that her mental attitude should be improved by the company of other children. Thus the seclusion ended and she was allowed the privilege of playmates. These early years of seclusion did not affect her outlook on life. Her vivacity and wit have won her many sparkling roles in motion pictures.

The latest picture in which she is permitted to play her natural self is opposite Arthur Lake in Radio Pictures' all-talking romantic-comedy drama, "She's My Weakness" opening to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre.

"Good Sport"

As a forerunner of the style trend of midday's colliers, the fact that six blondes are to be found among the leading feminine players in the Fox production, "Good Sport," which opens its local engagement at the King's Theatre next Thursday, may be of decided interest to women. And especially so when one considers that the picture is one of modern matrimony, laid in the fashionable sections of New York and that each of these fair haired ladies enacts the role of a member of the smart set.

These golden-tressed actresses are Linda Watkins who made her screen debut recently in "Sob Sister" and who is cast in the title role; Gracia Nissen, noted for her siren portrayals; Nina Combell, known to you perhaps as Edna, the girl friend, in "Bad Girl"; Claire Maynard, Betty Francisco and Eleanor Hunt.

For years it has been the dark-haired maiden who has held sway in the masculine eye, but since the publication of a certain popular novel, hair-dressers have noted a great increase in the sales of these preparations guaranteed to give the hair the colour that gentlemen now prefer.

"Good Sport" deals with the story of a young and trusting wife, who suddenly discovers that her husband has transferred his affections to another woman. Rather than turn to the divorce courts for help she decides to find out just why this other woman was able to lure him away from her and in doing so she meets up with some rather startling revelations.

In the male lead opposite Miss Watkins is to be seen John Bolen, star of "Rio Rita" and "Seed." The other featured players include Allan Dinehart and Redda Hopper. Kenneth MacKenna directed the film.

"Joan Crawford in 'Possessed'." Joan Crawford has bowed to the requests of hundreds of letters received at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio with the result that she sings a new song in her latest picture, "Possessed" which is showing at the Queen's Theatre. Miss Crawford's voice caught on with the public when she sang "Gotta Feeling for You" in "The Hollywood Revue of 1929." Subsequently she sang several songs in "Montana Moon" and also introduced a new number in "Dance, Foola, Dance" and "Laughing Sinners" respectively.

However, two of the star's most recent pictures, "This Modern Age" and "Paid," were songless and she has been bombarded with protests by mail. Consequently a highlight of "Possessed" is "How Long Will It Last?" by Max Lief and Joe Meyers, which Miss Crawford sings in a Park Avenue sequence of the picture. "Possessed" is a striking story of modern New York and its modern lack of conventions. The picture was adapted from the Edgar Selwyn stage play, "The Miracle." Clark Gable, latest screen sensation, plays opposite Miss Crawford and the cast

"The Miracle Man."

Boasting one of the most distinguished all-star casts of the current season of cinema, "The Miracle Man," classic American play, is showing at the King's Theatre to-day.

The cast of "The Miracle Man" is an important one. Sylvia Sidney and Chester Morris play the leading roles, the girl-friend and the dapper young confidence crook. These were the roles played by Betty Compson and Thomas Meighan in "19 Hobart Desworth plays the central role as the faith-healer patriarch. John Wray, plays the part of the fake paralytic. "The Froge—the part which made Lon Chaney famous on the screen 15 years ago.

Others who are prominently cast are Irving Pichel, Robert Coogan, Boris Esloff, Ned A. Sparks, Lloyd Hughes, Virginia Bruce and Ellis Ellsler.

"Arrowsmith."

"Arrowsmith," Samuel Goldwyn's picture of Sinclair Lewis' novel, starring Ronald Colman, which comes to the Central Theatre to-day, records the thrilling true story of what fearless scientists have done to stamp out the great plagues which have always been the worst enemies of mankind. In the role of its crusading doctor-hero, Ronald Colman goes down to a savage island in the West Indies to risk his life against bubonic plague, the historic Black Death, in hope of proving that he has discovered its cure.

The novel of Arrowsmith, acknowledged to be Sinclair Lewis' masterpiece, is of course fiction. But neither the ravages of the black death nor the perils of the men who have sought to stamp out such scourges are fictitious.

Nowadays the civilized world pays little attention to bubonic plague because it is no longer a threat. But until a few years ago it was not even known that it was rats which travelling from one continent to another on ships carried the terrible disease from its breeding places in the East to Europe and America. Time and again, both in medieval and modern times, the Black Death came out of the East and exterminated whole cities and countries.

In the fourteenth century it killed half the population of England. In the 17th century, it killed 70,000 people in London alone. New Orleans and San Francisco have both had frightful epidemics of it in recent times and it is said to have killed six million people in India between 1896 to 1907. And it is only through the fearless investigations of men like Mr. Lewis' Dr. Arrowsmith that the plague has finally been removed as a constant menace to the civilized world.

When Congress recently awarded a medal to the last survivor of Dr. Walter Reed's yellow fever expedition in Havana in 1898, the world was again reminded of how gallantly scientists have faced death for the general good.

So that this "Arrowsmith," which now serves Ronald Colman for one of his greatest roles, is a story of modern heroes, fighting with test-tubes and microscopes instead of with sword and shield, but crusaders all the same. It is a faithful record of a grim romance of modern life, and is a picture everyone is waiting for and longing to see for a long time.

WOMEN'S WORLD

FOR OUR LADY READERS.

MILLINERY EFFECTS.

"Tam-o-Shanter" Popular.

One of the most daring of the Paris designers has refused absolutely to create any more small, trimless shapes. His hats, he says, shall soften the faces of his clients, even if they sometimes show a good deal of one side of the forehead. And they do, with effects which you are not quite sure whether you like or not, but which certainly "grow on you" after a while.

The old-fashioned "tam-o-shanter" is becoming such a voyage in Paris now that one may say it has entirely ousted the Empress Eugenie hat of which Parisiennes are heartily tired. It is worn in the time-honoured style tilted to one side of the head, and well forward over one eye, with a feather placed near the back, sticking straight up in the air.

Fashion Brevities.

White satin makes lovely gala gowns, plain or fringed here and there with silver embroidery.

A gown seen on a woman once, never again produces an impression. The second time she wears it her appearance is taken for granted.

A new gown or a new hat makes any woman seem elated or beautiful. Feeling beautiful is as good as being so.

Several times I have seen colourful feather collars on evening wraps or used on gowns. Watch ostrich feathers, for they are going to be interesting things.

Ostrich feather hats are making a big splash. When a hat is a gorgeous note of color.

Long gloves are being worn for evening wear as much as ever, and usually match the colour of the gown.

Like the bathing suit? It's a "half-bath" model, with a waist of red and green, and a skirt of blue and white. Incidentally, it is by Martin of Chicago. It's a sun-and-sea bather at Miami Beach, Fla.

One of the two-piece creations, offered by designers this year to women who are wondering what not to wear, consists merely of a brassiere and shorts, with nothing in between but a shudder for the easily-shocked. Such a suit, properly fitted, is pictured above. It appeared first at Biarritz, then at Palm Beach, and recently has been approved at Atlantic City.

LEARNING TO WALK WELL.

(By A Mannequin)

An upright carriage, a well-poised head, and an even, graceful walk are not only great assets to a woman's looks but are actually aids to health. The best way to correct bad habits in walking is to follow the practice of the mannequin.

The mannequin trains by walking along a straight line, placing one foot immediately in front of the other in the manner of a tight-rope walker. This can easily be done by following a line in the pattern of a carpet, or in the absence of a pattern, by moving along the edge of one. Anywhere, in fact, where there is space to walk a few yards, preferably in front of a mirror, so that it is possible to watch one's progress.

Now to walk in the street in the manner of a rope-walker would, of course, look quite ridiculous and exaggerated. But to use this idea as a method of practice will correct any tendency to turn the toes in, or too far in an outward direction, which is equally ugly. It also corrects a tendency noticeable in some women—to swing one leg—usually the right one—completely across in front of the other.

Your foot-work mastered, next in importance comes that of the other extremity. So now take your eyes off your feet and try balancing a book on the top of your head while continuing to walk as before. You will find that you have unconsciously assumed a "back-the-whole-world-in-the-face" attitude. This one is prevented from allowing the chin to sag down on to the neck, and, equally, from tilting it too far back.

Incidentally, from the moment of ceasing to watch your toes, you will find your ankles just brushing one another in an even, graceful stride. To guard against round shoulders place a walking stick across the back and hold it in position under the arms. This will draw the figure up to an almost military bearing. After pacing a few minutes—still

SHORT CUTS TO BEAUTY.

Before a "Perm."

Give the hair a warm olive oil bath the night before you have a permanent wave. It will put it in the right mood for the treatment, will counteract the drying tendency of the heater and give a deeper, more lustrous looking wave.

Use rain water whenever you can get it. It acts as a tonic on the skin as well as a cleanser and it makes the face soft and velvety. Use it warm.

Learn to "produce" your looks and personality. Beauty, like charm, is so much a matter of technique. When in doubt, smile. We may not be able to bring much to the conversation on social occasions, but a smile is always welcome.

Always polish your nails on the buffer before applying varnish. It will keep them looking pink and pretty much longer.

RICE RISsoles.

Boil 6 oz. of rice in salted water until soft, but not to a pulp. Drain and keep hot until dry. Then line a buttered pie dish with some of it, pressing it well on to the sides and bottom of the dish.

Put in a layer of slices of cooked meat, add some minced onion, parsley, and salt and pepper. Pour in some stock, or gravy; and cover with more of the cooked rice; add a few small pieces of butter, and bake a pale brown. Serve with boiled or baked potatoes.

with the book balanced—remove these "aids," and continue without them.

The stick will have imposed some stiffness to the figure, which it is not necessary to hold. Its point of usefulness lies in keeping the shoulders erect.

"I'm so glad, Mrs. Dobbs, that you have decided to see your

FRENCH LADY
VIOLINISTTO APPEAR HERE VERY

In speaking of the artistry of Mme. Chemel, the noted French violinist, who will give a recital here during the latter part of the month, the musical critic of the Times wrote as follows:—"She came, She played, She conquered"—the tone she produces from her violin—the finest

Gallano I have ever heard—is rich in sonority and savour. She should even be ranked, without much hesitation, among the best men violinists, whose names are so familiar with the musical world."

According to the proposed arrangements a concert will be given in the King's Theatre on Friday 24th June. The event promises to be one of the most interesting musical treats ever afforded enthusiasts in Hongkong.

British Films.

[To the Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.]

Sir,—After reading your correspondence columns on the subject of British films, I wish to add a few points to the topic.

The letter in the Telegraph of the 13th instant is full of sound sense, but there are several points the writer forgot to mention.

M. G. M. produces British dramas on a large scale, mainly because they are wonderful, excellent and well written. But did the writer ever know M.G.M. ever try to produce such plays as "Lord Babs" (as an excellent British comedy) and "To Oblige a Lady?"

Why M.G.M. produces so much British dramas is for the simple reason that the Americans act and make the play a picture full of sense. M.G.M. know and have proved to the public that British dramas are just as good, in fact better than some American dramas. M.G.M. producers choose the right kind of plays for the right players, that's the main reason why M.G.M. produce British dramas which are big sellers and gain the favour of the public.

M.G.M. have completed arrangements to distribute British films throughout their theatres in America. Why? We all get tired of eating steaks every day; we want a change. So does every theatre goer. All American and the same characters over and over again—that gets you tired, doesn't it?

Then what is produced must be used, no matter if it doesn't bring in a profit. All business men know that.—Yours, etc.

THEATRE-GOER.

LOCAL SHIPPING
EXPANSIONMORE VESSELS USING THE PORT

According to the annual report of the Harbour Master, the year 1931 showed a further increase in the amount of shipping using the Port of Hongkong, the largest increase being in British River Steamers.

The increase in foreign going shipping entering and clearing was 1,422,098 tons and in local shipping 537,311 tons, a total of 1,959,409 tons.

British ocean going shipping has increased by 183,239 tons while British river steamers show an increase of 705,564 tons. The junk trade also shows large increases, 398,596 tons in foreign going junks and 592,561 in local trade junks.

The river steamer trade has increased considerably. The greater demand for carriage of both goods and passengers stimulated some owners into putting into service vessels they had laid up, and in other cases to make more frequent sailings.

CANTON CHOLERA
OUTBREAKAUTHORITIES TAKE PRECAUTIONS

Canton, June 14. Owing to the recent serious outbreak of cholera in Canton, rules governing the sale of ice-cream, cold drinks and perishable fruits and uncooked vegetables have been submitted to the Canton Municipal Government by the Bureau of Safety and Health. These have been approved by the Government. The rules forbid sale of ice-cream unless medical authorities, also all kinds of gelatine food (Liang Fun) with the exception of aerated waters in bottles. Anyone violating these rules is liable to a fine not exceeding $5 or five days imprisonment for the first offence, and $15 for the second offence, or 15 days imprisonment. These rules became effective as from last Saturday.

General Au Fon-po, the Provincial Financial Commissioner, has submitted certain schemes to adjust the local finances. These have now been put into operation with the result that the value of the Central Bank notes has considerably advanced. It is hoped that the financial authorities will soon be able to redeem the bank-notes of $1, $10 and $100 which are at present at a discount.

The 4th meeting of the Bureau of Education was held last Friday. Mr. Luk Yau-kwong, Director of the Bureau taking the chair. The rules governing school inspectors and the duties to be performed by them was approved, also an application sent to the Bureau of Health recommending of a medical practitioner to take care of sick students of the Municipal schools in the city. It was also decided that a new kind of text-book be used by the primary schools.—Our Own Correspondent.

LOCAL LIQUOR
DUTIESREVISED SCALE OF RECKONING

At to-morrow's meeting of the Legislative Council, the Colonial Treasurer will move a resolution rescinding the liquor duties resolutions of February 26th and March 17th.

The resolution will also provide that in the case of dutiable liquors heretofore or hereafter imported into the Colony the dollars and decimals thereof stated in the Table shall be conventional dollars reckoned as the equivalent of one shilling and eight pence sterling; and that consequently to arrive at the actual amount payable in Hongkong currency the conventional dollar stated in the Table shall be multiplied by 20 and divided by a figure settled by the Colonial Treasurer from time to time representing the average opening selling rates for the previous month of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation for demand drafts on London and until so settled the figure shall be 16.10.

HONGKONG CRIME
IN 1931FEVER SERIOUS OFFENCES

The Inspector General of Police, in his annual report, states that serious crime showed a welcome reduction in 1931, with the exception of kidnapping of children which increased to a somewhat alarming extent during the early part of the year. Thanks to the special measures adopted for its suppression, the second half of the year showed a marked improvement which appears to be maintained. Petty crime showed an increase in larcenies, but otherwise does not call for any special comment.

Generally speaking, the year would have been considered a good one, had it not been for the serious Anti-Japanese outbreak at the end of September which was accompanied by rioting, a certain amount of looting of shops storing Japanese goods and the dastardly murder of a Japanese family at Tsang Fook Villas in the Kowloon City District.

DOLDRUMSHONGKONG DOLLAR
UNCHANGED

Once again, the Hongkong dollar is unchanged to-day. The local market is dead, with a slightly easier undertone.

Silver is unchanged in London, where the market is featureless and business very small. After the official fixing, the market called idle.

New York reports silver down 1/8th, on a dull market.

INDIA'S DEBT IN BRITAINBEING SUBSTANTIALLY

London, June 14.

The Secretary for India will repay to-morrow, the earliest possible redemption date, the outstanding balance of £3,604,000 of the India six per cent. bonds 1932/33, issued in February, 1930. The total amount of the issue was £6,000,000, which has been reduced to the above figure by independent operations.

The outstanding balance, £11,213,128, of the India five and a half per cent. loan of 1932, of which the original amount was £22,500,000, was repaid last January.

The recent issue of India sterling stock was for £10,000,000 nominal. Thus, after allowing for this operation, the effect of repayment of these two loans is to reduce by a very large amount the outstanding total of Indian debt in Britain.—British Wireless.

DISASTER TO PRESS
AEROPLANETWO MEN KILLED WHILE FLYING FROM IRELAND.

A monoplane in which were Major Irwin Napier Colin Clarke and Mr. Victor Barton, a Press photographer, crashed near Stranraer, Wigtownshire, and both occupants were killed.

The machine was travelling from Londonderry with pictures of Miss Earhart's arrival for the Daily Sketch.

The plane crashed on a rocky hillside about 1,000 yards from the Irish Channel.

Major Clarke in November, 1930, piloted the Daily Sketch aeroplane from Abyssinia with pictures of the coronation of King Tafari. He was born in Melbourne 39 years ago.

Mr. Barton displayed great coolness when in India recently doing special photographic work, following the return of Gandhi. During a riot he walked into the midst of the mob and began to take photographs. The crowd laughed, and the tension was relieved.

'PHONE GIRL'S CUP OF TEABANNED BY THE POST OFFICE

The Post Office has sprung what is described as a bombshell in the telephone exchange.

No longer can the telephone girl have her morning cup of tea. Except in special circumstances casual reliefs—outside the authorised meal periods—are not to be allowed for the purpose of light refreshment.

It is claimed on behalf of the girls that many of them leave home as early as 6.30 a.m., and that some break before noon for refreshment is necessary for health.

After three or four hours' work on a busy board, with an earpiece clamped to her ear, a cup of tea, the phone girl says, works wonders. Casual reliefs for this purpose were hitherto a matter of course.

HAYDN OR HAYDEN?

WAS HE A HUNGARIAN?

Budapest, May 12.

The Press prints some interesting data about a family called Hayden, which claims that the composer Haydn was of Hungarian birth and origin.

In the beginning of the eighteenth century the Haydens were already providing factors for the Eszterhazy estates, near Sopron and Kismarton, and a document granting a patent of nobility, which is dated 1661 and signed by the Emperor Leopold of Austria, shows the name both as Haydn and Hayden.

This is regarded as a proof that the Haydens belonged to the same family as the composer, and that the "e" was only added to the name in the Hungarian form. Other documents prove that in 1720, twelve years before the composer's birth, the family Haydn was living in Kismarton in the employment of Prince Eszterhazy, so it is improbable that Haydn would have sprung from another family of the same name.

CONTOL OF HAWAII

BILL TO ESTABLISH DICTATORSHIP

Washington, May 18.

Mr. F. A. Britten (Illinois) introduced a Bill into the House of Representatives to-day under which a military or naval dictatorship would be established in Hawaii.

In bringing in his Bill, Mr. Britten said: "No other nation on earth would allow so important a possession to be so completely dominated by a native population."

He went on to cite the Massie case, which, he said, showed "the extreme to which the civilian population, as well as the courts, go to uphold the native spirit against anything that is American."

The Bill authorizes the President of the United States to appoint Army or Navy officers as Governor and Secretary of Hawaii. The Governor is to possess complete veto power over acts of the territorial legislature in peace time and during an emergency or in war time.

The Colony's health report for the week ending June 11 shows the following cases of infectious diseases, and deaths therefrom.—Small-pox 5 cases 6 deaths, diphtheria 2 cases, typhoid 8 cases 1 death (1 imported), paratyphoid 1 case (imported), meningitis 2 deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis. One case of typhoid and one of meningitis were reported to the health authorities on Monday.

"Evergreen" Hobbs Scores Two Centuries

NOTTS LOSE EXCITING MATCH

FINE ACHIEVEMENTS BY VETERANS

London, June 14.

HOBBS, WHOSE FORM TO DATE had been rather below par, returned to power with a vengeance to-day, when he scored two separate centuries against Essex—the outstanding achievement of the county cricket programme.

Three other veterans also performed to good effect, Philip Mead carrying his bat for 104, Geary again proving the mainstay of the Leicester attack, and "Farmer" White bowling so effectively as to cause the defeat of Notts at the hands of Somerset. There was a thrilling finish to the match, the West-erners winning by 13 runs.

COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Surrey beat Essex at the Oval by 9 wickets.
Middlesex beat Worcester at Lord's by 8 wickets.
Somerset beat Notts at Taunton by 13 runs.
Hampshire beat Derby at Southampton by 6 wickets.
Warwickshire beat Northants at Northampton by 7 wickets.

FRIENDLIES.

Leicester beat South Americans at Leicester by innings and 33 runs.
Lancashire drew with All India at Liverpool.

Nichols (Essex) v. Surrey	6 for 67
Geary (Leicester) v. S. Americans	4 for 32
Snary (Leicester) v. S. Americans	4 for 35

HOBBS STRIKES FORM.

Two Brilliant Innings Against Essex.

Hobbs accomplished a distinguished performance against Essex, when in Surrey's first inning he not only scored his first century of the season, but added another when the winners batted a second time.

Surrey won by nine wickets, Essex total being 207 and 286, O'Connor scoring 104 in the second knock.

Surrey compiled 243 in their first venture, Hobbs hitting up 113, and Nichols taking 5 wickets for 67. Thanks to a brilliant partnership by Hobbs (119 not out) and Gregory (113 not out) Surrey scored 251 for 1 wicket to win with ease.

DURSTON AND ROBINS.

Play Chief Part in Defeat of Worcester.

Worcester, beaten by eight wickets, were dismissed for 279 and 90. Durston caused the damage in the first innings taking 5 for 26, and R.W.V. Robins excelled himself in the second innings when he secured 6 for 45.

Middlesex first replied with 161 (Jackson 5 for 45) and hit off the 209 required runs to win for the loss of two wickets.

AMERICANS BEATEN.

No Match For Aggressive Leicester.

Leicester had things all their own way against the South Americans winning by an innings and 33 runs.

Leicester compiled 261, and then dismissed the visitors for 112 and 116. Geary and Snary wrought the damage in the first innings, the former taking 4 for 32 and the latter 4 for 35.

INDIANS BAT WELL.

Another Century For Amar Singh.

Amar Singh and Naidu batted finely for the Indians when they met Lancashire and fully held their own in a drawn game.

The Indians put together the useful score of 493, Amar Singh scoring 131, not out, and Naidu 125, this being their reply to Lancashire's total of 399, to which Paynter contributed 153. The visitors scored 36 for 2 in their second venture.

THRILLING FINISH.

Great Achievement By Somerset

Somerset accomplished their best performance of the season when they defeated Notts by 13 runs after a fine fighting finish.

Somerset scored 242 in their first knock and 196 at the second time of asking, Larwood bagging 5 wickets for 56 runs.

Notts were behind on the first innings their score reaching 219, "Farmer" White taking half the wickets for 58 runs, and their final effort realised 206.

MOVE THAT FAILED.

Derby Declare and Are Bitten.

After declaring in the second innings, Derby suffered defeat by six wickets at the hands of Hampshire.

Derby compiled 318 to start with, to which Hampshire responded with 234.

Smith hit up 103, not out when Derby batted a second time and applied the closure at 219 for 8, but so magnificently did Arnold and Mead bat, that Hampshire won with plenty to spare, obtaining the 307 runs required for the loss of 4 wickets. Arnold scored 100 and Mead 104 not out.

EASY FOR WARWICK.

Northants Overcome By 7 Wickets.

Warwick easily defeated Northants by seven wickets. Northants put together totals of 101 and 259, to which the winners replied with 274 and 147 for 3.—Reuter.

Shanghai Golf Tournament

PICKFORD WINS BY 5 AND 4

H. L. Pickford won the President's Prize, presented by C. M. G. Burnie in the Hongkiao Golf Club's competition just completed, when he defeated G. F. H. Richard, five and four, after a match which was hotly contested in its early stages, particularly.

Richard, a 22 handicap man, defeated M. Boniface, 18, in the first round, one up, and Richard beat R. G. MacDonald, 11, by five and four.

C. H. Arnhold fell before Richard in the second round and Pickford disposed of E. O. Cumming, three and two. This match was tough and went throughout.

The third round saw Richard up against stiffer competition, with L. McCordick, 12, forcing the pace. But he won, three and two. Pickford managed a six and five victory over D. F. Dumbarton, 24.

With the quarter finals both finalists were in fine form, playing excellent golf. Pickford disposing of A. J. Kane, who had come manfully up through the preceding rounds, and Richard taking K. M. Cumming's measure.

The semi-final saw G. D. Nicholl fall to Pickford, by two up, and V. Clair went under by just one to Richard's steady play. Both Nicholl and Clair are 9 men.

Theirs was a sterling fight for honours and they were, as a matter of fact, favoured for joint finalists. Pickford made no mistake in the finals, however, and by careful play stayed even with his opponent and took advantage of the other's mistakes. The match was well contested.

FRENCH TENNIS FEELS THE PINCH

Lawn Tennis Association Facing $2,600 Deficit.

A deficit of $2,600 has given the French Lawn Tennis Association added incentive to urge the tri-colour forces on to victory in the 1932 Davis Cup matches. Dr. George Cellet, treasurer, reports that unless the cup remains in France for at least another year the obligation cannot be met.

NEW TENNIS "FIND"

POLISH WOMAN'S GREAT FEAT

The surprise defeat of Miss Helen Jacobs in the lawn tennis tournament at Berlin indicates the possibility of the rise of a new European star. Mlle. Jadwiga Jadrzejowska, the woman champion of Poland, was her conqueror. She won by 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

Miss Jacobs is America's second strongest player, and while last year she was below par and was defeated at Wimbledon in the semi-final round by the German girl Fraulen Krawinkel, it has been claimed by American writers that she had this season recovered her best form.

Mlle. Jadrzejowska first came under notice during the Wimbledon championships last season. She entered for the women's singles event and was defeated in the first round by Mrs. L. A. Godfree, a former holder, only after a very hot fight by 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The Polish player was defeated on the Riviera this year by Mlle. Payot, and in Warsaw this month by Mlle. Ida Adamoff (6-2, 6-3) who ranks second in France. It is clear, therefore, that Mlle. Jadrzejowska's triumph over Miss Jacobs will need amplification before it can be claimed that she seriously challenges existing ranking.

PHILIPPINES MEN AT V.R.C.

EASILY DEFEAT LOCAL SWIMMERS

The three Philippine Islands swimming representatives for the Olympic Games, T. Hdezono, A. Jikrum and A. Ali, gave a fine exhibition of swimming in the Victoria Recreation Club bath yesterday evening, when they were matched against some of the Colony's best swimmers, and won with ease.

Their swimming was characterized by an easy style, and they did not seem to extend themselves much in beating the local men.

In the first event, Hdezono and Jikrum, who specialize in the hundred yards breast stroke, took the water with H. M. Remedios. From the start, the visitors took the lead, Hdezono being a little ahead of Jikrum. Remedios put up a fine showing against much superior swimmers, and in the first two laps was close behind. In the fourth lap, however, he fell off, and Hdezono beat him by about half the length of the bath. Jikrum was about four yards behind the winner. The time recorded by the winner was 68 2/5 secs., which is believed to constitute a Hongkong record. Jikrum timed 69 4/5 secs.

The hundred yards free style saw W. Lawrence and L. Roza Pereira matched against A. Ali. All won this event in great style, being about eleven yards in front of the local party, who tied for the second position. Ali showed that he could travel at a tremendous speed, and once he had entered the water he held the lead to the end. Roza Pereira swam very well, but the Olympic representative was much faster on the turns at the end of the bath, and usually gained a few yards this way.

ITALY ENTER SEMI-FINAL

Qualify to Meet Japan

Montreux, June 14.

Italy qualified to meet Japan in the semi-final of the European Zone of the Davis Cup when in the concluding matches against Switzerland, Palmiero beat Aeschlimann to secure for Italy the vital rubber.

Afterwards, de Stefani, Italy's No. 1 lost to Fisher in a five-set match.

When the match was resumed Italy was leading by 2 rubbers to 1, and Palmiero quickly made certain of the result by defeating Aeschlimann in straight sets. The only time the Swiss player showed any sort of fight was in the third set which went to twelve games.

Fisher staged a brilliant recovery against Stefani, when, after being two sets down, the second being lost to nil, he suddenly leapt into form, won the third set after a tense fight of 16 games, levelled up at the fourth with another long set of 8-6, and finally vanquished his opponent in a remarkable display of stamina, winning the final set at 8-6.

The scores as cabled by Reuter, were:—

Palmiero (Italy) beat Aeschlimann (Switzerland) 6-3, 6-1, 7-5.
Fisher (Switzerland) beat de Stefani (Italy) 3-0, 6-0, 9-7, 8-6, 8-6.—Reuter.

FRANCE'S TEAM FOR WIMBLEDON

Imposing Array of First Class Players

The French Tennis Federation has named the team which will represent the country at the world championships soon to be played at Wimbledon. The team is made up of Cochet, Bousus, Borotra, Brugnon, Ferret, Merill, Mme. Mathieu and Mlle. Colette Rosambert. The participation of Rene Lacoste is uncertain.

SHORT FUNDS FOR THE OLYMPICS

ALL THE NATIONS AFFECTED

European teams are not the only ones going to the Olympic games under a financial strain. The United States representatives too, are likely to be considerably reduced if the financial crisis which the Olympic committee is facing now is not rectified in the near future.

Avery Brundage of Chicago, President both of the Olympic committee and the National Amateur Athletic Union, stated that a meeting was recently called to discuss ways and means of cutting down the U. S. team, depending upon the outcome of a forthcoming campaign for money. In any case, he said, we are faced with the sharp necessity for economy.

"If it means that we cannot raise enough money to send more than half-a-dozen athletes to Los Angeles we will not send more than half-a-dozen," he said.

To date, approximately $40,000 has been obtained toward the aggregate 1932 American Olympic Fund of $350,000 fixed for the handling of a full delegation in all sports. Most of this sum is already involved as the Olympic committee's share of team expenses for the Winter games last February in Lake Placid.

SEARCH FOR FUNDS.

In other words, as Mr. Brundage pointed out, the Committee is now virtually starting from scratch in its nation-wide search for funds with which to transport and board approximately 400 athletes, coaches and officials for the Summer Olympic games in California.

"Naturally, as the host nation, we feel we should be represented fully in all branches of competition," said Brundage, "but we shall unquestionably be obliged to cut our entries in some events and exert economy all along the line."

A programme for economy has been set out and includes the following three features: 1. No extra coaches for any team; 2. No trainers; 3. Confine entries only to competitors of Olympic calibre.

"We may as well face the music now and consider drastic measures otherwise we may come down toward the tryouts 'holding the bag,'" the President concluded.

MAN HUNTERS

She walked on air to Michigan avenue. Despite the fact that the society editors declared no one stayed in Chicago for the dog-days there was, as usual, a well-dressed, alert-eyed throng of shoppers on the avenue. The day was a gift from the gods. Cool, almost sharp that breeze was and there were white caps ruffling the cobalt surface of the "inland sea."

Susan drew great breaths and was glad to be alive—glad to be on the sunny side of 20—glad to be meeting this particular young man.

He came toward her, detaching himself from the little group in the lobby, and she felt a lift of the heart at sight of that tall, well-knit figure in its perfectly fitting grey flannels.

He lifted his hat, and the simple action sent her heart rearing and plunging like a wild thing.

"You look awfully fit!" The clipped voice was just as Susan remembered it. Not for nothing had Bob Dunbar spent several years at British schools.

She smiled at him, almost too happy to speak. "You, too," she said softly. She wondered why she was always at ease with this boy. She had known him such a little while and yet it was always as if they were renewing an old and delightful acquaintance. It was as if they had known each other forever.

He leaned across the table, his blue eyes sharpening as he stared at her frankly, quite as if he'd never seen her before.

"I like you in that pink thing," he said slowly. The room, the other diners, the waiters murmuring in a corner, the music muted from the strings of a discreet orchestra, and Susan was alone with him. Yet all she said was "Thank you." Her voice shook, ever so little, as she formed the words.

"I'm going abroad again," said the boy, still looking at her strangely and deeply. "Father wants me to. I wanted to say goodbye."

The word rang like a knell in Susan's heart yet, before a woman, she summoned a fixed smile to answer him.

"Going abroad?" she repeated, feeling rather stupid yet unable for the moment to find other words.

He frowned and played with his fork. "Yes. Thought I was to stay here and go into the business."

She said "I'm sorry," and the words struck her as being painfully inadequate.

"So am I." His mouth twisted whimsically as he looked at her. "I. It hasn't all gone as I thought it would. I wanted to be friends. I hoped—"

The waiter arrived with a tray of little silver dishes and Susan hated him. There was an interval and then they were alone again in the vast, scented, murmuring room once more.

"Well, that's that," Bob Dunbar told her. His laugh sounded nervous and harsh. "Perhaps you'll still be around when I come back."

"When will that be?"

"Oh, late fall—by Christmas, at the outside."

Christmas—Christmas—Christmas—Susan felt as though she were suffocating. To find love, all at once, and have it snatched away.

Those large, fringed eyes, grey and black by turn, were raised to his.

"That's right. I wanted to tell you something. I would have before but the family's been pestering me all summer. Been keeping me out of town. Treating me like a kid in grade school. But you must know—you must have guessed before this."

Susan left joy suffusing her, washing over her like warm rain. Into the waters of this tele-a-tete there dropped the finest of pebbles. A girl's voice, slow and drawing and insolent, broke across Bob Dunbar's. The strange voice said, "Wherever have you been, darling? I've been missing you so."

Susan glanced up to find the red-haired girl who had been the Strinskys' party starting impudently at her. But the words were addressed to Bob Dunbar who had sprung to his feet.

"Miss Ackroyd, this is Miss Carey," he said.

Susan wished the ground might open and swallow that red-haired girl, Denise.

VEHICULAR CLINIC

TO BE USED FOR THE NEW TERRITORIES

The Government's well-known progressive policy in connexion with medical and sanitary affairs within the Colony is further exemplified by the newest addition to the many facilities at its disposal for the medical assistance of residents in the New Territories.

This takes the form of a "Clinic" motor van, which was yesterday on display to the public at the Kowloon Hospital, and which to-day starts its duties as a means of quick relief for suffering humanity in the more isolated villages on the Peninsula.

A handsome looking vehicle, the motor van is a six-wheeler Morris with a Vickers' body. It is highly powered, and is essentially a utility car, capable of travelling over almost any road.

Complete Dispensary.

It is fitted with a complete dispensary, and has the necessary equipment for First Aid treatment. Accompanying the van on its tours around the Territories will be a doctor and a dresser.

The vehicular "Clinic" by means of which it will be possible to serve the whole of the Kowloon peninsula, will be housed at Fan-ting, but every day will pay visits to the various villages. A daily time table has been arranged, so that the Clinic will be visiting certain villages at a stated hour, and each day it will visit three or four different villages.

The property of the Government, it is the first vehicle of its kind to be used in Kowloon, and will prove an inestimable boon to the natives in the scattered villages of the New Territories.

Those who saw it at the Kowloon Hospital yesterday, where Dr. K. H. Uttley, Medical Officer of Health, explained its equipment and duties, were loud in their praise of such a medical aid.

The Subject of Typhoons.
You would probably be disappointed if I sat down without touching upon the subject of typhoons. A typhoon is the local name for a tropical cyclone; in the South Indian Ocean and the Bay of Bengal it is termed a cyclone, and in the West Indies, a hurricane. The passage of a typhoon is at best a troublesome and uncomfortable episode, but I have frequently met newcomers anxious for the experience. Strangely enough, he (or she) usually expects something of the dramatic nature recorded in the writings of those novelists who deal with the romantic isles of the South Pacific Ocean. The summary way disaster strikes these island communities makes a great appeal to the imagination, but during the passage of the majority of typhoons, the sequence of weather changes lacks the dramatic character beloved of the South Sea novelist.

It is most unfortunately true, however, that dramatic and tragic consequences are not unknown here, but usually the sum total of the average citizen's experience is discomfort. In spite of the wonderful expansion of Kowloon during recent years, this City of Victoria remains the business centre of the Colony, and a large number of the Colony's workers are faced with uncomfortable or interrupted transport, while the high wind and heavy rainfall of a typhoon continue. For those who have not necessarily to fare abroad the house become something of a prison, all windows and shutters are bolted and barred, but nevertheless permit quantities of water to enter through previously unsuspected cracks, leaks appear in roofs and servants are kept busy with swabs and buckets. In former times the electric light frequently failed, adding another discomfort to the lot of the prisoner.

Disaster Recalled.

Occasionally dire disaster accompanies discomfort. Those residents who still remember the tragedy of September 1906 will need no reminder of the toll of shipping and human life that is exacted on such occasions. More frequently, extensive damage is done to trees and vegetation generally, while the effect of continuous rain is occasionally manifested in landslides and collapses.

How, when and where do typhoons originate? The older books state that vigorous convection of the air in tropical regions, aided by the deflective force of the earth's rotation are jointly responsible for a spiral motion of the winds round a centre or vortex. This circulation attains a progressive motion through the agency of the upper currents in the earth's atmosphere, and owes its energy to the latent heat of its copious precipitation. Of late years much of this has been doubted particularly the vortex nature of the central region, much that is destructive has been written, and little that is constructive. It seems advisable therefore to turn to the remainder of the question, where by reason of actual observation we are on surer ground.

Typhoons (cyclones or hurricanes) originate between 10° and 18° latitude over the oceans to the eastward of continental areas and are most frequent in the summer of the hemisphere concerned. The direction of motion is westward, with a varying inclination towards the pole of the hemisphere, but there are occasions when the track is definitely polewards and some, where it is subject to recurvature, i.e. a quick change of 90° away from the Equator, resulting in a north-easterly direction of progress.

In the Far East the majority of typhoons form in the Pacific at varying distances eastward of the Philippine Islands, they advance towards the China coast on various tracks, and in the cases of northerly courses or recurvature, eventually reach Japan; other typhoons form in the China Sea, and move towards Indo-China. The islands of Formosa and Hainan are crossed or affected by many typhoons during the course of each summer.

Effect in Hongkong.

The first effect of a typhoon upon Hongkong is usually a spell of bright and hot weather. As the typhoon approaches, the clear sky becomes clouded, and a first rough approximation of the typhoon track may be gathered from the nature of the clouds. If the track is to the south of Hongkong, the clouds are detached and move from N. or N.E., while the visible blue sky is clear. If the storm is heading north of Hongkong, the sky is more completely covered, the clouds move from N. or N.W. and are less sharply defined owing to haze. The temperature is higher than in the former case.

During the passage of a typhoon south of the Colony, the wind veers from North through East to South; during a passage to the North of the Colony the wind backs from North through West to South. In the former case rainfall is plentiful, in the latter, the rainfall although plentiful, is sometimes not experienced until the typhoon has gone ashore. In both cases the changes in wind direction are quicker, the nearer the centre of the typhoon passes to the Colony, and in the rare cases when the typhoon passes directly over the Colony—no gradual change of wind direction is discerned, the wind ceasing abruptly as the central calm approaches, recommencing suddenly from the opposite direction as the central calm passes.

The damage done by the storm depends on the velocity of the wind combined with the heavy rain. The combination invariably finds the weak points of buildings, causing breakage and leaks, and is especially fatal to trees, the roots of which do not penetrate deeply into the earth. Falling trees and flying debris cause havoc with overhead wires for electric light, telephones, etc. These services are now mainly carried underground, and interruption is rare, whatever the severity of the storm. As the wind force increases, the waters of the harbour are lashed into foam, and much water is cast up on the different piers, causing damage to the road surface. Small craft hurry to shelter at the earliest sign of danger, their occupants being well aware that destruction is the probable lot of those who linger. Steamships leave the harbour when possible and anchor in one of the adjacent bays. All steam upon their anchors to relieve the strain of the wind and sea. The necessity for this was exemplified in 1923, when the Loongsang being without steam drifted through the harbour and sank near the piers.

The progress of the typhoon may be estimated by observing the fall of the barometer. A gradual fall and recovery signify that the centre is at a considerable distance, whilst a sharp decline and recovery indicate its comparative nearness. In the majority of cases the highest wind velocity will be experienced as the barometer begins to rise, and sharp fluctuations will be noticed during the more severe squalls.

Distinctive Features.

There is much that could be said on this subject, but considerations of time forbid. Of the many local sayings concerning typhoons, some are correct but many are not, owing to the impossibility of generalizing upon phenomena no two of which seem to be alike. Each typhoon has its distinctive features and Rotarians would do well to disregard the local sayings entirely and rely upon the signals and reports issued by the Royal Observatory for their information.

In this connection, it should be realised that when typhoons are at a considerable distance from the Colony the announcement of their positions depends upon reports received at considerable intervals, seldom more than four times daily. There is no possibility of giving intermediate positions, except by estimation from the assumed direction and velocity. When, however, the typhoon is affecting the barometers and anemometers at the Royal Observatory and the outlying light-houses of the Colony, its progress can be much more definitely noted. All information is passed to the public without delay, and telephonic requests to the Director for the latest information can only result in unnecessary repetition, and the engagement of the lines for such purposes results in the frequent delay of messages of general interest.

Without unduly stressing these remarks, I should like to appeal to those institutions etc. which have definite rules of procedure when the different signals are hoisted. The individual responsible for the carrying out of these instructions tries (probably most innocently) to throw the responsibility upon the Observatory by seeking to obtain information as to when the signals will be raised or lowered in order that he may intelligently anticipate events. This shows praiseworthy zeal, but is somewhat unfair to my staff and myself.

Storm warnings are the cause of much inconvenience and loss of valuable time in the commercial activities of this port, but they should be regarded as an insurance premium against possible disasters.

and accepted as cheerfully as possible.

Questions.

There were some humorous touches at the conclusion of the address, when the chairman called for questions. "When are we going to get the next typhoon?" "How long is this rain going to last?" were fired at Mr. Jeffries.

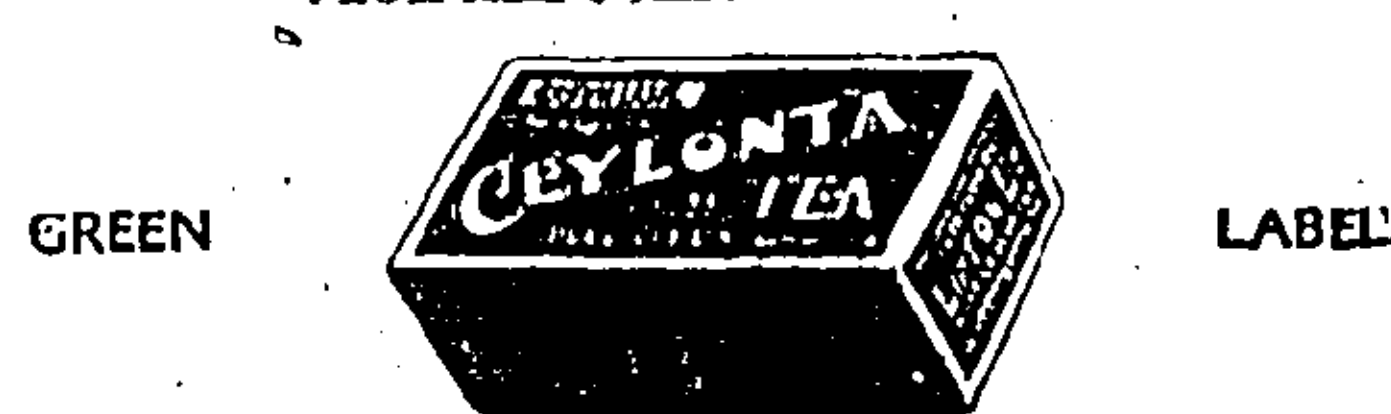

"I didn't come here prepared to answer questions," Mr. Jeffries replied, "but I did come here with one at the back of my mind. I would like to ask the honourable, the Director of Public Works if he requires an abnormal supply of rain to meet a normal consumption of water." (Laughter). In a witty speech, the Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton thanked Mr. Jeffries for his most interesting address.

Singapore Greetings.

Mr. Braddell spoke at the invitation of the chairman. He said he was very happy to bring the greetings of the Singapore Rotary Club to Hongkong. In the past the Singapore club had not had the pleasure of welcoming many from Hongkong, but he hoped to see more in the future.

By applying the objects of Rotary, he said, much good work could be done. In Singapore they had been able to accomplish much that had never been done before. Rotary was something worth encouraging. In Germany, Italy, France and Holland it was a big movement. The button of Rotary ensured for the wearer not only a fine social position but a sound business connexion. In Trieste (Italy) the best-known men were Rotarians and the same applied in most of the European capitals. He foretold a great impetus to Rotary in England since Prince George had been elected patron of the Rotary International there.

Mr. Braddell stressed the value of the weekly addresses. Some people, he said, ask what good did the addresses do. They belonged to the self-satisfied class. Einstein attended them and he (the speaker) did not think many Rotarians would set their store of knowledge above Einstein's.

HOME FLEET "IN ACTION"

NAVAL "BATTLE" OFF SCOTLAND

London, June 20.
A great "naval action" was "fought" off the coast of Northern Scotland on Tuesday. Actually, it was a tactical exercise for ships of the Home Fleet—divided so as to represent two battle fleets—and was part of the Spring exercise which the Fleet is now carrying out, with Invergordon as its base.

The main feature was destroyer attacks by the Blue Fleet upon the Red Fleet in which the Fifty and Sixth Destroyer Flotillas, making in all eighteen destroyers, took part and fired their full outfit of torpedoes—six each—at the ships of the opposing fleet.

Nelson, flying the flag of the Commander-in-Chief, Admiral Sir John Kelly, led the Red Fleet's line, comprising Rodney, Malaya and Valiant, which, with Nelson itself, are all ships of the Second Battle Squadron.

H.M.S. Hood, the great battle cruiser, represented the opposing battle squadron, and directed the operations of the destroyers of the Blue Fleet.

The two aircraft carriers, Furious and Courageous, were neutral, and supplied reconnaissance planes for both fleets.

Many thousands of pounds worth of torpedoes were fired, but they were all recovered.

BRITISH DISPUTE WITH FINLAND

SHIPS ACQUIRED DURING THE WAR

Geneva, May 18.
The dispute between the British and Finnish Governments concerning the claims of certain Finnish shipowners in respect of vessels used by Great Britain during the war is nearing an end.

The matter was brought up today at the League Council meeting, but the Reporter was able to announce that the two Powers had agreed on May 10 to submit to a legal examination the question whether the Finnish shipowners had or had not exhausted the legal remedies placed at their disposal by the British Government.

The matter is complicated because whilst the British Government has honourably discharged all obligations in respect of the chartering of the vessels in question, the Finnish shipowners have never been paid. This situation has been brought about by the default of the Russian Government.

The ships were chartered by Great Britain through the Inter-mediation of the Russian Government before the establishment of the independence of Finland, and payment was duly made to the Russian Government. That payment was never passed on to the Finnish shipowners, and, after the revolution, the new Russian Government refused to endorse the liabilities incurred by its predecessors.

NATIONAL FINANCE

SIR DONALD MACLEAN'S CAUTION

Sir Donald Maclean, President of the Board of Education, addressing the Liberal Association, said that the warnings of the Chancellor of the Exchequer and other high financial authorities recently published in the Press were a clear indication that the financial position of England required new consideration, not withstanding that less than a month had elapsed since the introduction of the Budget.

Taking what comfort we could from the fact that we were co-partners with the rest of the world in financial troubles, and further, that we were easily the most stable, political and financial unit in an unstable world, we must be clear that the nation had to face an unexpected situation.

There were many theorists telling us what to do, and all were sure of an interested audience whether they advocated inflation, deflation, or reflation. A search into history would disclose the fact that highly organised communities, such as Greece and Rome and others, in later centuries had ever been subjected to not dissimilar trials. It was a great Roman who pointed out to

DANGER TO BRITISH SPEED RECORDS

ITALY'S NEW CLAIM

Rome, May 21.
Great Britain is in danger of losing one of her speed records, General Balbo, the Italian Minister for Air, announced in the Senate yesterday that the trials in the new Schneider machine for breaking the record of 407½ m.p.h. set up last year by Flight Lieutenant G. H. Stainforth had been so successful as to justify the claim that Italy had regained the world's speed record.

General Balbo said that such progress had been made in aviation that he predicted a speed of 1,000 kilometres (625 m.p.h.) would be attained within the next ten years.

His fellow countrymen, when other things had failed, that "Economy is in itself a great source of revenue." Here, at any rate, was a field in which there were still good crops to be gathered for ratepayer and taxpayer alike. Clearly, in many respects, we had reached a point where increased taxation would lead to diminished returns. In short, the more you taxed the less you got.

SOCIETY GIRLS' LATEST

OFFER TO WORK AS CHAMBERMAIDS

Eight Society girls who offered their services for a season as Spa hotel chambermaids were mentioned by Mr. R. C. Vaughan at the conference of the British Health Resorts Association at Llandrindod Wells.

Their object, he said, was to "reinforce their depleted fortunes."

"Here in Llandrindod Wells in charge of a hotel garage," Mr. Vaughan continued, "is a young lady of superior education who finds her present work more interesting than fox-hunting or driving her own car."

Many public schoolboys were entering hotel service and he mentioned that a young peer and a judge's son were among recent recruits.

Mr. Vaughan is chairman of the Hotels and Caterers' Association and a director of the Hollywood Hotel Company.

The young woman referred to by Mr. Vaughan is employed at one of the biggest hotels in Llandrindod Wells. She is in charge of the motor garage.

When a New Chronicle reporter saw her she refused to give her name but chatted happily about her work and said she liked her "place."

CONGRESS OF OCEAN FLYERS

ROME MEETING MARRED BY TRAGEDY

Rome, May 22.
At the moment of making a landing at Rome aerodrome yesterday to take part in the Trans-oceanic Aviators' Congress the Hungarian "ace," Endresz, and his mechanic, Bittay, were killed. The machine took fire and the occupants were burned to death.

The aeroplane made a false manoeuvre when only 200 yards from the ground, swerved violently, crashed, and burst into flame.

Both Signor Mussolini and Sir Arthur Whitten Brown expressed deep regret at the tragedy, and the ocean flyers all stood and observed one minute's silence.

In replying in the name of the Congress to Signor Mussolini's welcome, Sir Arthur Brown paid tribute "to all those who have paid with their lives the price of their devotion to the cause of the science and progress of aviation."

He said how deeply he regretted that the comrade of his at Llandrindod, Sir John Alcock, was not at that moment by his side.

After the funeral of the two Hungarians, the Congress will continue its pre-arranged programme.

BRITAIN SENDS WARSHIP WARNING TO CHILE

WATER DECISION

TO BE REMOVED

As from 4 o'clock this afternoon, all water restrictions throughout the Colony will be removed and a 24-hour supply be provided through the mains.

This will mean the disuse of the street fountains, the new groups of which will be gradually removed.

The welcome change in the situation is due to the heavy fall of rain in the past twenty-four hours, which had added 228 million gallons to the reservoirs up the seven o'clock this morning. The total in storage is now 1,376 million gallons, being represented by 1,029 on the island and 347 on the mainland.

OBSERVATORY RETURNS.

Observatory returns show that for the twenty-four hours ended at 10 a.m. this morning, the rain fall totalled no less than 6.12 inches.

The heaviest fall occurred in the three hours from 10.30 a.m. to 1.30 p.m. yesterday, namely, 5.20 inches. From 10.30 to 11.30 the fall was 1.34 inches, from 11.30 to 12.30 the fall was 2.48 inches, and from 12.30 to 1.30 the fall was 1.20 inch.

The year's rainfall now amounts to 31.92 inches, as compared with an average for the period of 31.02 inches.

HEAVIEST FOR 16 YEARS

WITHIN 12 INCHES OF 1892 WHOLE MONTH RECORD.

The heaviest June rainfall for sixteen years is certain to be registered before the month is out. Since 10.30 a.m. to-day, a further fall of 1.61 inches has occurred, bringing the total for the month (only half elapsed) to 22.49 inches.

In the past sixteen years, the highest June rainfall has been 23.35 inches (for the whole month) in 1925. The greatest fall on record is 34.37 inches in 1892 while in 1916, 32.16 inches were registered.

The total to date 22.49 inches compares with an average of 7.14 inches and a record minimum for June of 2.33 inches.

HIS EXCELLENCY INDISPOSED

COUNCIL MEETING POSTPONED

The Legislative Council meeting which was to have been held to-morrow afternoon has been postponed until the 23rd instant.

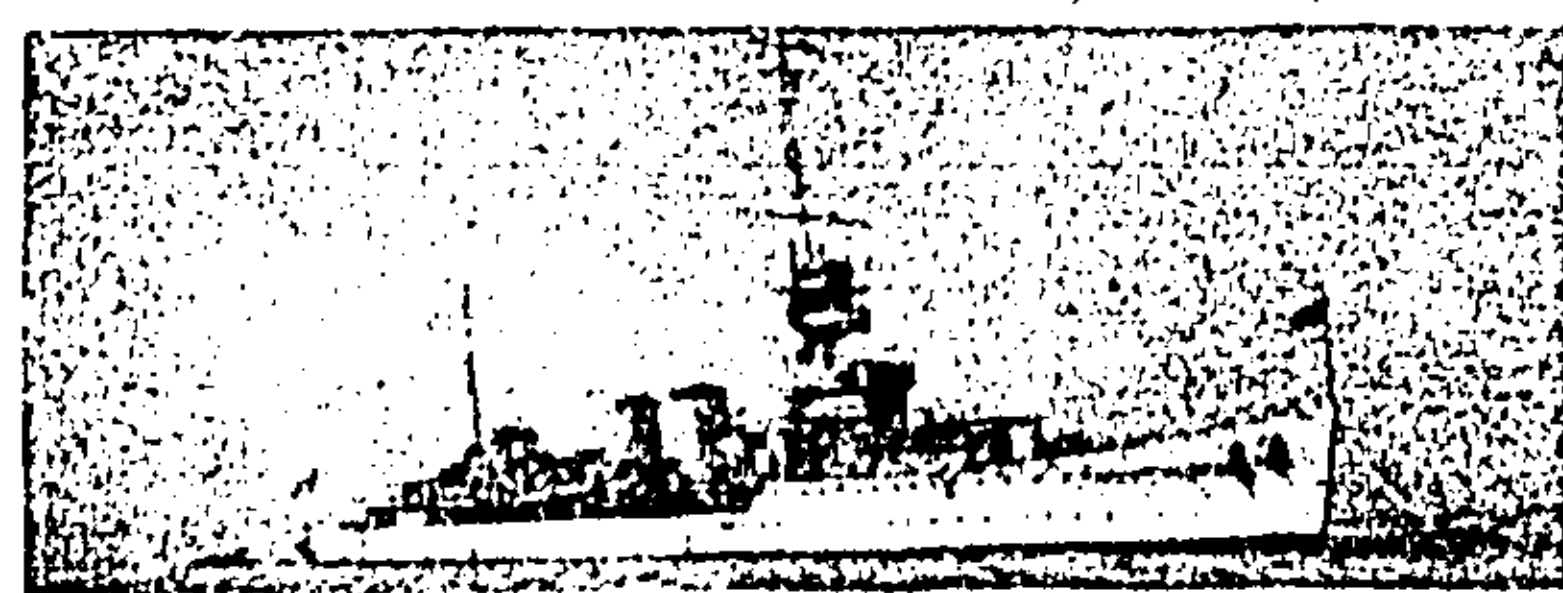

This is in consequence of the indisposition of His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government (Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern, C.M.G.).

We understand that His Excellency has been confined to his bed for some few days with a slight attack of bronchial catarrh, but that he is now much better and is able to move about.

IRISH DELEGATION ANNOUNCED.

London, June 14. Arrangements completed to-day for the representation of the Irish Free State at the Ottawa Conference provided that Mr. de Valera will head the delegation, accompanied by Mr. Lomas, the Minister of Industry and Commerce, Mr. Ryan, the Minister of Lands and Fisheries, and probably Senator Connolly and Senator Johnson, the last representing Labour.—British Wireless.

H. M. S. Durban, which is under Special orders connected with the British warning to Chile.

READY FOR EMERGENCIES

London, June 14.

THE British light-cruiser, H.M.S. Durban, attached to the South American Division of the America and West Indies Squadron, and flying the pennant of Commodore R. H. O. Lane-Poole, O.B.E., is proceeding to Callao, Peru, in order to be ready in case of need for the protection of British interests in Chile.

The Durban is the flagship of the South American Division. Her commander is Commander J. C. Annesley, D. S. O., and she carries six 6-inch guns.

She was formerly on the China Station.—British Wireless.

SEIZURE OF CUSTOMS

PROPOSE TO TAKE NO ACTION

London, June 14. Britain's attitude to the Japanese control over Manchuria was to-day again revealed as entirely negative.

The Government was asked to forward a protest to Tokyo regarding the retention of the funds of the Chinese Maritime Customs in Manchuria, but Captain Anthony Eldon indicated that the British Government did not propose to take any action in the matter.

Asked to state the position as regards the Customs administration in Manchuria and whether the British Government would make representations to the Japanese Government insisting that the whole of the revenues should be regarded as definitely allocated to the Chinese Government administration, Captain Eldon provided the stock answer.

DIFFICULT AND ANOMALOUS

Present conditions in Manchuria, he said, necessarily created a difficult and anomalous situation in regard to the Customs administration. His latest information was that hitherto the new authorities in Manchuria had not interfered with the administration itself though there was difficulty in remitting the surplus of the Customs revenue collected in Manchurian ports to Shanghai.

In the circumstances, he said, it hardly seemed desirable to make the suggested representations.—Reuter.

THE SOMALILAND PROTECTORATE

MAJOR LAWRENCE NEW COMMISSIONER.

London, June 14.

H. M. the King has approved of the officer appointed to succeed Sir Harold Kittmaster in the administration of the British Somaliland Protectorate being designated Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Protectorate.

The King has also approved of the appointment to this post of Major A. S. Lawrence, Secretary to the Government of British Somaliland, who will assume the Commission on 18th June.—British Wireless.

SQUIRES' ELECTION DEBACLE

PARTY WIPED OUT

(Reuter's Special Service).

London, June 14. That the United Newfoundland Party, composed of the Conservative elements in the Opposition, have scored an overwhelming victory over the Liberals, led by the ex-Premier, Sir Richard Squires, in the Newfoundland general elections, is evident from the latest despatches from St. Johns.

The results which have already been declared reveal that the Opposition have already won twenty seats while only one Liberal member has been returned.

Both Sir Richard Squires and Lady Squires were defeated in their constituencies.

Only five results are still to come in.

The election was a sequel to the recent political disturbances when Sir Richard Squires was forced to flee from an angry mob, which besieged the Parliamentary Buildings demanding his resignation. He was rescued by a priest.

NULLAH TORRENT TRAGEDY

WOMAN SWEEPED OUT TO SEA BY SUDDEN TERRIFIC RUSH OF WATER

The heavy rain yesterday forenoon transformed a big nullah at Taihang into a swirling torrent, with the result that one man nearly lost his life when he was swept away by the flood, while a woman is believed to have been carried out to sea and drowned.

In its course, the torrent swept through the village of Taihang, and a Chinese coolie who ventured within reach, was carried off his feet and swept downstream. Fortunately, his career was stopped when dashed against a group of rocks jutting out from the bed of the nullah. He desperately clung to his rather precarious position until rescued by the police.

The man, Chang Chau-hung, aged 29, a P.W.D. employee, was found to be suffering from rather severe injuries, and was removed to the Government Civil Hospital. Later, the police were informed that a woman who was last seen washing clothes in the nullah, was missing. Just before the intensive downpour before noon, she went to an upper reach of the nullah and relatives who missed her came to the conclusion that she must have met with some accident. A search was initiated with the assistance of the police from the Bay View Station, but no trace of the woman was found. It is now believed that she was swept down the nullah and carried into the harbour.

Similar mishaps are known to have occurred previously when the nullah was flooded in similar circumstances.

CONGRESS TRAGEDY

SUDDEN DEATH OF MEMBER

London, June 14.

Mr. Edward Everett Eslick, the Democratic member of the House of Representatives for the Seventh Tennessee District, collapsed and died in the House to-day.

He was addressing Congress in favour of the Bill for the immediate payment of the War Bonus to the Veterans when he fell to the ground and died almost immediately.

The House was adjourned in consequence.

Mr. Eslick had been a member of Congress since 1925 and was a lawyer by profession. He was 60 years of age. Reuter's American Service.

SEVERAL SHARP SKIRMISHES

Harbin, June 15.

Several brisk skirmishes have occurred to the south of Harbin where raiding parties of anti-Manchukuo troops are exceedingly active, carrying out lightning attacks on the Manchukuo and Japanese outposts.

With the recent defeat of the anti-Manchukuo forces on both sides of the city, the Japanese military authorities now declare that Harbin is no longer in danger of occupation by the "insurgents."

Traffic between Harbin and Fuchuan is being suspended every night between the hours of 9 p.m. and 7 a.m.

The Manchukuo authorities, meanwhile have stopped recruiting into their army, so as to prevent unreliable and undesirable elements from joining the colours.

Several units of the Manchukuo Army have recently deserted.—Reuter.

THE DISARMAMENT PARLEY

AWAITING RESULT OF DISCUSSIONS

London, June 14.

At a private meeting of the Disarmament Conference Procedure Committee to-day a resolution was adopted the effect of which is to suspend the main work of the Conference until the conclusion of the discussions now taking place between representatives of the Big Powers.—British Wireless.

A broker, Wong Wing-hung, living at 13, Sailing Street, has reported to the police that a man to whom he handed a bangle worth $500 with the view to sale, has absconded with the article.

SHANGHAI PHONE DISPUTE

(Special to "Telegraph")

Shanghai, June 15.

Threats of sabotage by the strikers of the telephone company appear to lie behind an ultimatum issued by their leaders to-day.

The development is one which is regarded seriously and trouble is to be feared. More than a thousand Chinese employees of the telephone company are participating in the strike, making demands which have been refused by the company.

Hitherto, the strike has not interfered with the normal working of the telephone system which has been carried on largely through voluntary helpers.

RESORT TO THREATS.

The failure of the strikers to cause any embarrassment to the company through the simple process of striking has doubtless persuaded them to resort to threats.

The ultimatum delivered to the company declares that the responsibility for any untoward incidents will rest with the company unless a satisfactory reply is given to the demands of the strikers.

The Strike Committee characterises the Company's statement that it has not employed White Russians as "a slander, an insult and intrigue."

MODIFIED DEMANDS

The strikers, incidentally, have modified their demands, but are insisting upon an increase of pay for all workers, double pay for Sunday work, the reinstatement of all dismissed workers, reinstatement from any further dismissals and no increase in the telephone charges.—Reuter.

BEHIND SCENES AT GENEVA

IMPORTANT TALKS INFERRED

London, June 14.

Statesmen in Geneva spent to-day mainly in informal conversations.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and Sir John Simon were the luncheon guests of Mr. Hugh Gibson, the chief United States delegate to the Disarmament Conference and in the afternoon conferred with Signor Grandi. The British and French Premiers also had a long conversation this morning.—British Wireless.

SIR ROBERT HO TUNG

BUSY PROGRAMME IN LONDON

London, June 14.

Sir Robert Ho Tung, who has been busily engaged in explaining the Chinese situation in trading, financial and shipping quarters in London, was entertained to luncheon to-day by the Chinese Consul-General.

Among those also present were Dr. Alfred So and Dr. C. T. Wang. Sir Robert is probably leaving for the Continent in a few weeks time.—Reuter.

Hobbs Breaks Record

Thrilling Games on Several Grounds

London, June 14.

J. B. Hobbs, the world-famous England and Surrey batsman, not out in his fiftieth year, established a new record in cricket annals to-day when he completed a century against Essex for the second time in the match.

The feat of scoring a hundred in each innings brought his total of such achievements to six, beating the records of C. B. Fry, who accomplished it on five occasions, on four occasions for Sussex and once for Hampshire. On three other occasions, C. B. Fry failed by only one run.

100 and 100 v. Warwick in 1909.
101 and 143 v. Cambridge in 1925.
101 and 101 v. Somerset in 1925.
112 and 104 v. Hampshire in 1927.
137 and 111 v. Gloucestershire in 1930.
113 and 119 v. Warwick in 1932.

Not out.
Surrey defeated Warwick by nine wickets, hitting up 252 for 1 wicket in the fourth innings.

MIDDLESEX RECOVERY.

Middlesex to-day secured a brilliant victory over Worcester by a margin of eight wickets. The metropolitan side were 118 runs in arrears on the first innings, but a wonderful bowling feat by K. W. V. Robins changed the whole complexion of the game, and Middlesex made 209 for 2 to secure victory.

The All-India team put up their highest score of their tour against Lancashire, hitting up 493 runs. Naidu and Amar Singh completed three-figure scores.

Sensational was the defeat of Nottingham by Somerset. An advantage of 23 runs was secured by Somerset on the first innings, and but excellent bowling by Larwood produced what appeared to be an easy task for the Nottingham batsmen. They failed badly however, being defeated by 13 runs.

Perhaps the most remarkable victory was registered by Hampshire at Southampton. Derbyshire declared with eight wickets down in their second innings, setting Hants the task of scoring 307 runs to win. The southerners went out for the runs. Arnold and Philip Mead getting right on top of the bowling and success was secured by a margin of six wickets.

ARREST DRAMA

MAN MISSING FROM SHORNCIFFE

London, June 14.

The man arrested at Barnet this morning after a shooting duel with the police who tracked him down by means of bloodhounds, is revealed as a soldier.

He has been charged with the wilful triple murder of the three women, whose bodies were discovered at King's Wood yesterday.

The accused is James Thomas Collin, described as a private serving in a regiment stationed at Shorncliffe, near Folkestone.

The regiment stationed at Shorncliffe is the 2nd Batt. The Buffs (East Kent Regiment) and presumably he is from this battalion.

STORY OF ARREST.

The story of his arrest is dramatically featured in to-day's newspapers. The police suspecting that the murderer was armed and probably roaming about woods in the vicinity, scoured the countryside all through the night without success.

Soon after dawn, however, a man with a gun was observed to make a bid for liberty on sighting a police constable. A hue and cry was immediately set up and the fugitive soldier was brought to bay.

TENSE MOMENTS.

The man armed with a gun and a police constable with a revolver faced each other, watching every movement warily, neither daring to make the first attempt to shoot, the officer obviously being desirous not to do so unless compelled by circumstances.

While the soldier's attention was kept in his direction by the tension of the moment, a second constable who had appeared on the scene unobserved, stalked him carefully, and with a final dash rendered him hors de combat.

THE VICTIMS.

The victims of the tragedy, it will be recalled, were Mrs. Annie Swift, 65, the licensee of Ye Olde Sportsman's Inn, near Whitstable, Mrs. Jennie Stamp, 35, her daughter, Miss Peggy Stamp, 13, her granddaughter. The bodies were all found within a few hundred yards of each other, partially buried in the undergrowth of King's Wood, near Asford, Kent.—Reuter.

BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney.

While the general practice is for the declarer to pick up the trump, the declarer in the following hand must use his trump for ruffing purposes in order to go game.

♠A-Q-10-9	♥8	♦9-7-5-3-2	♣9-6-3
♠5-2	♥J-6-4	♦A-J-8-6-4	♣8-5-2
NORTH
♠8-7-4	♥A-10-7-5-2	♦Q-10	♣A-10-4
EAST
♠K-J-6-3	♥K-Q-9-3	♦K	♣K-Q-J-7
SOUTH

The Bidding.

The hand was played at contract and South opened the bidding with one heart. West passed, and North bid one spade. East passed and South boldly jumped the contract to four spades.

The Play.

East has the opening lead and it is quite a problem. He does not care to open the ace of hearts as that suit has been bid by South. His club suit is only three cards long. He selects trump for the opening lead, and leads the eight of spades which North, the declarer, wins with the nine-spot. North's next play is the singleton eight of hearts and if East goes up with the ace, it would be an easy matter for declarer to go game.

East's proper play is a small heart. Dummy plays the queen which holds the trick. Declarer leads a small heart from dummy and trumps in his own hand with the 10 of spades. His next play is the three of clubs which East wins with the ace of clubs. East returns another spade which the declarer wins with the queen. Declarer then plays the nine of clubs winning in the dummy with the jack, and leads the nine of hearts trumping in his own hand with his last spade—the ace. Declarer then leads a small diamond to the dummy's king which West wins with the ace, and now all the opponents can take in their ace of hearts. If a diamond is returned, the declarer will trump in the dummy with the jack of spades, lead the king of spades which picks up the last trump and the king and queen of clubs are good in dummy.

By refusing to lead trump, North, the declarer, has successfully made his contract of four odd.

A THANKS BADGE.

GIRL GUIDES' PRESENTATION
TO MRS. R. M. DYER

A very pleasant and informal Girl Guide ceremony was witnessed at Government House on Tuesday morning, when Mrs. R. M. Dyer, who has been Colony Treasurer for the past ten years, ever since the inception of Guiding in Hongkong, was presented with a gold "Thanks Badge." This badge, which is one of the greatest tokens of esteem a Guide can show, was given to Mrs. Dyer by Mrs. W. T. Southern, Colony Commissioner, on behalf of the Executive Committee.

Those present included Mrs. T. H. King, Mrs. H. T. Crosby, Mrs. E. R. Hallifax, Mrs. J. R. Wood, Mrs. A. R. H. Phillips, Mrs. R. H. Rotewell, Mrs. W. G. Robertson, Mrs. W. J. Anderson, Mrs. Alan Jones, and Mrs. C. E. L. Grist.

THE WEATHER
PROPHET.

MR. JEFFRIES EXPLAINS
FORECASTING.

ROTARY TALK.

Rotarians yesterday listened with interest to the story of the weather prophet and his work as told by Mr. C. W. Jeffries, F.R.A.S., Director of the local Observatory, at the weekly tiffin of the Rotary Club.

The Hon. Mr. Ts'o presided, and welcomed the President of the Singapore Rotary Club, Mr. R. St. J. Braddell, who delivered a short address on Rotary.

Mr. Jeffries said: Though the title of this address is somewhat after the style of those delivered by Messrs. Champkin and Bowes-Smith, I cannot hope to emulate the bright manner of either, but I trust to hold your attention for a brief period, and shall endeavour to comply with the request of a distinguished listener and refrain from being "scientific."

Meteorology is not an exact science. This statement was made many years ago, and, in spite of the many advances of recent years, it is still true. In fact the meteorologist who has the duty of forecasting is not regarded as an exact person at all. He is told so frankly by all sorts of people, his efforts are criticised and he is the recipient of more chaff than any member of the community. A sunny disposition and placid temperament are essential if a weather prophet is to function professionally, and continue to dwell amongst his fellow mortals. I am convinced that all the old time hermits started life as weather prophets, and after careers of varying length and inevitable failure, retired to snug caverns, and grew long beards in the hope of disguising themselves.

In many ways, however, we are a harder race to-day for the modern prophet does not retire in disgust to a cavern, he walks boldly into the club, hoping everyone has forgotten what an inefficient individual he is, and as I can state from experience he often gets away with it. Nevertheless there is one occasion when he should be left severely alone, and that is when, having stated that the weather will improve, and in that firm belief betaking himself to Fanling, he experiences with other members of the golf club the felicity of watching a steady downpour of rain for the whole of the time that play is normally possible. It says much for us that no casualty has ever been recorded when the prophet has been reminded of his prophecy.

Prophet Not Spared.

"Shop" is usually regarded as being somewhat outside the pale of conversation during hours of relaxation from toil. Is the weather prophet spared? Not he. How can he expect to be when the weather is the never failing topic of conversation with us all. Yet it seems a little harsh sometimes, for your prophet often believes the old adage that "He who is weather-wise is seldom otherwise." I have known him to have a fair knowledge of interesting and important topics, such as angling, stamp collecting, golf or the league prospects of the Arsenal. I suggest therefore that you encourage him to speak of other things, in order that he may continue to appreciate the society of his fellow men, and not relegate himself to solitude. I once knew a weather prophet who as nearly as possible became a hermit. He laboured amongst you and but few knew him, although his name was a household word, and was on one occasion used in a topical verse of a comic song. He had to make a voyage to Hongkong on the ferry and in doing so met one of his few acquaintances and remarked upon the fine premises the Godown Co. had recently erected. He was really staggered to find that the said premises had been completed for six years. A little insight into the methods employed may interest you, and I heretofore promise not to be profoundly scientific. Firstly I should like to allude to a method that is not used and in doing so I may perhaps be forgiven an anecdote. A distinguished scientist was at one time travelling in Australia when he heard of a farmer in the backblocks who had achieved a reputation as a weather prophet at the time that an official meteorological service was showing much activity. The scientist called upon the old man and questioned him as to his methods and to his surprise was told "I carefully read what that man in Sydney says and then say the opposite." It is not quite so simple as that, but it may give a hint to any rotarian who would like to add forecasting to his accomplishments.

Essentials of Forecasting.

There are still many worthy citizens who, never having given the matter especial consideration, probably have some idea of elaborate instruments necessary for successful weather forecasting, or of extraordinary ability in some individual. In this connection the public estimate of the comparative ability of the weather forecasters of Far East is interesting. If I premise that the saying concerning prophets and honour in their own country has a particular application heretofore, you will quickly be able to grade the local product.

The foundation of modern weather forecasting is the synoptic chart or weather map. There are few for whom a map has no fascination; I must confess to a weakness for poring over the details of a map that has lasted since my school days. A little while ago I was examining one in company with an aviator. The map gave some indication of the varying elevation of China, and although probably not of a high degree of accuracy, was extremely interesting, and in many ways could be compared to a weather map. Where height of the land was indicated the weather map would show the height of the barometer, and where the rivers were drawn the weather map would exhibit wind direction. There is also this similarity, that if equal altitudes are shown in an ordinary map by contour lines the course of the rivers is across these lines from high to low. The wind direction arrows in the synoptic chart have a similar tendency i.e. broadly speaking they fly from regions of high barometric pressure to regions where it is low, across the lines of equal pressure known as isobars. Here then you have the essentials of the weather map, barometric pressure, wind direction and force from as many stations as can be obtained. These are plotted upon a blank map, isobars are drawn and from the shape that the isobars assume, deductions are made and weather forecasts issued.

The Cyclonic Conditions.

Some conformations of isobars represent the regions of low pressure in which the winds converge in a rough sort of spiral towards the centre. These are cyclones; those occurring in the tropics being known as tropical cyclones, and those of more temperate regions as extra tropical cyclones. While each has certain characteristics the two varieties are generally similar in the main features of cyclonic circulation, and in consequence the term anticyclone is given to areas of high pressure in the earth's atmosphere where the winds show a circulation of a contrary nature.

In addition to the main distributions of pressure, exemplified by the cyclone and anticyclone, are forms known as wedges, cols, troughs and secondaries. The latter are usually subsidiary on the weather map to the cyclone and anticyclone, but each has distinctive

WHAT CAUSES
TEETHING PAINS?

It is generally conceded nowadays that teething pains result chiefly from the upset in the stomach and bowels which usually accompanies the teething process. The obvious treatment is therefore one which aims at settling these organs. The old-fashioned opiate and narcotic remedies for teething pains, besides being only of temporary effect, were also harmful and often positively dangerous.

All those so-called "soothing remedies" have now been replaced in the modern nursery by Baby's Own Tablets. This splendid stomach and bowel regulator embodies a physician's prescription and has proved remarkably effective for teething pains, although it is guaranteed to contain no opiate or narcotic elements whatsoever. The Tablets are also designed to provide an efficient all-round health-guard for babies and children up to six. Baby's Own Tablets banish stomach troubles and constipation rapidly and gently, relieve flatulence and indigestion, allay feverishness, colds and croup, check diarrhoea, expel worms. All wise parents keep their children well by an occasional dose of the pleasant-tasting children's medicine, Baby's Own Tablets. All chemists can supply you.

Five weather characteristics. To construct a weather map in great detail requires a large number of simultaneous observations, and in the Far East these are not available. The weather maps therefore can only exhibit the broad features of pressure distribution, and it is to the impossibility of reproducing the more detailed features that the failure of many forecasts is due. It must be remembered that, although certain types of weather accompany certain forms of pressure distribution, without the details, errors are likely to occur. An essential feature of successful forecasting is the ability to anticipate the probable changes in pressure distribution, and here again with only the broadest features delineated on the map before him, the forecaster frequently errs. Sir Napier Shaw has epitomised the matter as follows:

"The practice of weather forecasting depends mainly upon conclusions derived empirically from the study of synoptic weather charts. Its rules are partly formulated and partly exercised by the subconscious induction of prolonged experience."

Before leaving this part of the subject, I must explain that the scarcity of observations to which I have referred is only relative. Actually we are in receipt of reports from 45 to 60 stations twice daily, but the difficulty of the problems becomes apparent when it is remembered that the stations are irregularly distributed over some 8 million square miles. The observations are received free of charge to the Hongkong Government from the weather Bureaus of the Far East, by the generosity of the Eastern Extension and Great Northern Telegraph Companies. Several gratuitous radio services are received, among which the collection of observations transmitted personally by Fr. Gherzi of Saccarel deserves honourable mention and our most grateful thanks. The weather services of Japan, Formosa, the Philippines and Indo China send with great promptitude daily, the wireless stations at Pratas is an invaluable outpost and the light houses at Gap Rock and Waglan vigilant sentries on our behalf. Finally the Colony owes a debt to the masters and officers of the mercantile marine who have sent copies of their logs for nearly 50 years. Many vessels now communicate their observations by radio telegraphy and when requested, observe hourly for our benefit. To do this while navigating in the vicinity of a storm centre, is surely in keeping with the finest of the fine traditions of the sea.

MAN HUNTERS
BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY.

Susan Carey, who lives with her Aunt Jessie on Chicago's West side, has an unpleasant experience which she applies for her first job. Bob Dunbar, a handsome man whom Susan had met at business school, comforts her. She secures employment as secretary to Ernest Heath, a prominent architect. Ben Lampman, a moody young admirer of Susan, invites her to a studio party given by some Bohemian friends. Susan does not enjoy the affair and decides not to see Lampman any more. Weeks pass and the girl is lonely. Jack Waring, Heath's assistant and disinterested, shows the girl attention but she refuses his invitations.

CHAPTER X

On the way home in the hard brightness of the street car Ben said, "That's the way to live. Like Sonya and Arnold. Free and easy." Susan stared at him. "You like that?"

Ben moved impatiently. "Oh, I knew what you'd say. I know the apartment's kind of messy. But they're not tied down. They live their own lives and have a good time."

Susan, remembering Arnold's unkempt appearance and the greasy loops of Sonya's pale hair, the spots on her smock, was silent. She did not want to criticize Ben's friends. "It's a great love, anyhow," Ben burst out after an interval as the brightly lighted trolley proceeded, in series of jerks and stops. "They were terribly in love. Arnold had a wife some place in Russia but they fixed that up. They're what I call a really happy couple."

Susan felt a hysterical impulse to laugh but she restrained herself. She had thought the whole crowd, the Strinskys and their unwashed friends (with the exception of that exotic blossom, Denise), dreadful people. With provincial simplicity she discounted whatever talent lay in Arnold's long fingers because they did not look clean. She wondered how she could best describe the party to Aunt Jessie.

She let her hand lie limply in Ben's warm one at parting. "I can't ask you to come in," Susan said gently. "Aunt Jessie's gone to bed. Thank you for taking me to the party."

Ben muttered, "Wanted you to meet the crowd. You'll like them. They're real people."

Susan withdrew her hand. "Good night, then," she said, avoiding his hot, uncomfortable gaze. He called after her, "I'll phone you." Susan waved to him through the screen door, glad the tiresome evening was over. There was something almost frightening about Ben's intensity. Even when he had talked of the Strinskys' romance he had made it seem a personal matter.

Those dreadful people! Their way of living might seem ideal to Ben Lampman but it certainly did not to Susan. She would not go there again!

But as summer waxed and waned the girl almost regretted her decision. Chicago's Bohemia might not be the social background she desired but loneliness was hard to bear and the warm nights brought with them an aching sense of missing something.

Rose Abbot went to Sweetbrier Lake for two weeks and wrote long, glowing accounts of her conquests. She sent snapshots of herself, the centre of a merry mixed group. Susan, tossing sometimes on a hot and disordered bed, listening to the raucous music of the radio next door, would wonder about life. She was 19, not unattractive, intelligent. What promise was there ahead for her? Even if she held the job at Ernest Heath's (and it looked as if she might, with Miss O'Connell's convalescence lengthening out) what had she to look forward to?

Next year she might get $2 a week. In five years she might even be making $35. Well, what then? She would stay on with Aunt Jessie in the cottage. She would be 25, she would be 30, 35. She would begin to wear eyeglasses and go to lectures in the evening with some woman friend. She would be one of the brave, ever-increasing army of unmarried women workers in the Loop district. They had their two weeks' vacation, their one respectable suit. They wore neat, sensible shoes and devoted themselves wholeheartedly to the concern for which they laboured.

Susan saw them in halls and elevators. She heard them whispering together in the cafeterias. "My boss says—my boss thinks—" There would be usually a smug little smile as they spoke of their employers. Office wives, Susan had heard them called. Their loyalty, certainly, was a quality most wives would do well to copy. They had none of the wives' privileges. They had neither charge accounts, nor chauffeur-driven cars, nor trips south in the winter. They kept columns neat in big ledgers and typed exquisite letters. They remembered to order flowers for Mrs. Blank's anniversary. They dusted the big mahogany desks and turned the loose-leaf calendars daily. They called the University Club to order a table for four, for Tuesday, please, "and will you be sure it's near the window?" They bought theatre tickets for plays they were never to see, ordered carnations for pretty ladies who had no reason for existence, and made deposits in bank books of sums that would have kept them in clothing throughout their lives.

Susan said to herself that it wouldn't be so bad if the average secretary could see herself getting ahead as a young man might, using the office as a stepping stone to higher places. The typical girl worker, however, poured her energy, her sympathy and her intelligence into the job and unless she met with exceptional luck or extraordinary favouritism she might work 10, 15, 20 years without any recognition beyond the weekly pay envelope whose sum remained discouragingly small.

She was young, she was lonely, she was good. Sometimes during those warm, disturbing summer nights Susan wondered if it paid. She wondered if she might not, some day, answer the invitation in Jack Waring's eyes. She wondered if that seat in his sport roadster might not prove altogether too alluring some evening. Susan hoped not but she wondered.

The telephone rang one morning when she was alone in the office.

"Hello, Miss Carey?"

The girl's heart, for no good reason, began to beat thickly and uncomfortably.

"This is Bob Dunbar. Be an angel and have lunch with me. At one? Right? How about the Blackstone?"

Susan hung up the receiver with a gasp. The Blackstone, and she was wearing her old pink shantung! Well, her hat was new. It was a little rose pink straw she had picked up on a basement counter for $1.50. You would never have guessed the price. In a fever of excitement she waited for Pierson to come back to relieve her. With trembling fingers she pressed the small hat into place. If only she had known, if only she had guessed he was going to call her! She might have had a manure. She might have worn her more sophisticated blue crepe. She might have done a thousand things! Disatisfied, almost in tears, at last she picked up her hand bag and turned to go. Pierson's whining voice followed her. "Don't forget to be back by two, sharp. Mr. Heath has that cathedral estimate he wants to draw up."

Susan caught her underlip in her teeth. Well, that was being a working girl. She would have to hurry. No dallying over the coffee cups for her to-day. But the pulse that had been set drumming in her blood ever since she had heard Bob Dunbar's voice over the telephone would not be stilled.

CINEMA SCREENING NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES.

When most little girls her age were learning their ABC's Sue Carol was speaking fluent German and French and didn't know a word of English, although she was born and reared in America. Until she was six, Sue received instruction in two European tongues so that when she grew up she could speak them without accent. Sue was born in Chicago. She was christened Evelyn Lederer, but assumed her present name when she joined the motion picture colony. To make sure their daughter was not subjected to outside influences which might affect her language studies, Sue's parents never permitted her to associate with other children. They were also afraid of diseases. Despite these precautions, Sue contracted malaria and almost died. When she recovered the family physician advised that her mental attitude should be improved by the company of other children. Thus the seclusion ended. These early years of playmates and the seclusion ended on life. Her vivacity and wit have won her many sparkling roles in motion pictures.

The latest picture in which she is permitted to play her natural self is opposite Arthur Lake in Radio Pictures' all-talking romantic-comedy-drama, "She's My Weakness" opening to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre.

"Good Sport" As a forerunner of the style trend of midday's culture, the fact that six blondes are to be found among the leading feminine players in the Fox production, "Good Sport," which opens its local engagement at the King's Theatre next Thursday, may be of decided interest to women. And especially so when one considers that the picture is one of modern matrimony, laid in the fashionable sections of New York and that each of these fair haired ladies enacts the role of a member of the smart set. These golden-tressed actresses are Linda Watkins who made her screen debut recently in the title role, Greta Nissen, noted for her siren portrayals, Nana Campbell, known to you perhaps as Edna, the girl friend, in "Bad Girl," Claire Maynard, Betty Francisco and Eleanor Hunt. For years it has been the dark-haired maiden who has held away in the masculine eye, but since the publication of a certain popular hair-dressers have noted a great increase in the sales of these preparations guaranteed to give the hair the colour that gentlemen now prefer. "Good Sport" deals with the story of a young and trusting wife, who suddenly discovers that her husband has transferred his affections to another woman. Rather than turn to the divorce courts for help she decides to find out just why this other woman was able to lure him away from her and in doing so she meets up with some rather startling revelations. In the male lead opposite Miss Watkins is to be seen John Boles, star of "Rio Rita" and "Seed." The other featured players include Allan Dinehart and Redda Hopper. Kenneth MacKenna directed the film.

"Joan Crawford in 'Possessed.' Joan Crawford has bowed to the requests of hundreds of letters received at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio with the result that she sings a new song in her latest picture, "Possessed," which is showing at the Queen's Theatre. Miss Crawford's voice caught on with the public when she sang "Gotta Feeling for You" in the Hollywood Revue of 1929. Subsequently she sang several songs in "Montana Moon" and also introduced a new number in "Dance, Dance, Dance" and "Laughing Sinners" respectively. However, two of the star's most recent pictures, "This Modern Age" and "Paid," were songless and she has been bombarded with protests by mail. Consequently a highlight of "Possessed" is "How Long Will It Last" by Max Lief and Joe Meyers, which Miss Crawford sings in a Park Avenue scene. The picture was adapted from the Edgar Selwyn story, "The Mirage." Clark Gable, intent screen sensation, plays opposite Miss Crawford and the cast

"The Miracle Man." Boasting one of the most distinguished all-star casts of the current season of cinema, "The Miracle Man," classic American play is showing at the King's Theatre to-day.

The cast of "The Miracle Man" is an important one. Sylvia Sidney and Chester Morris play the leading roles, the girl friend and the dapper young confidence crook. These were the roles played by Betty Compson and Thomas Meighan in "Joan Crawford in 'Possessed.' Robert DeSward, plays the central role as the faith-healer patriarch. John Wray, plays the part of the fake paralytic. "The Frog" the part which made Lon Chaney famous on the screen 13 years ago.

Others who are prominently cast are Irving Pichel, Robert Coogan, Boris Karloff, Ned A. Sparks, Lloyd Hughes, Virginia Bruce and Elsie Elicier.

"Arrowsmith." Samuel Goldwyn's picture of Sinclair Lewis' novel, starring Ronald Colman, which comes to the Central Theatre to-day, records the thrilling, tragic story of what fearless scientists have done to stamp out the great plagues which have plagued mankind in the role of its crusader-hero, Ronald Colman goes down to a savage island in the West Indies to risk his life against bubonic plague, the historic Black Death, in hopes of proving that he has discovered its cure.

neither the ravages of the black death nor the perils of the men who have sought to stamp out such scourges are fictitious. Nowadays the civilized world pays little attention to bubonic plague. But because it is no longer a threat. But until a few years ago it was not even known that it was rats which travelling from one continent to another on ships carried the terrible disease from its breeding places in the East to Europe and America. Time and again, both in medieval and modern times, the Black Death came out of the East and exterminated whole cities and countries. In the fourteenth century it killed half the population of England. In the 17th century, it killed 70,000 people in London alone. New Orleans and San Francisco have both been hit by the plague. It is said to have cent times and it is said to have killed six million people in India between 1800 to 1907. And it is only through the fearless investigations of men like Mr. Lewis' Dr. Arrowsmith that the plague has finally been removed as a constant menace to the civilized world.

When Congress recently awarded a medal to the last survivor of Dr. Walter Reed's yellow fever expedition in Havana in 1898, the world was again reminded of how gallantly scientists have faced death for the general good. So that this "Arrowsmith," which now serves Ronald Colman for one of his greatest roles, is a story of modern heroism, fighting with test-tubes and microscopes instead of with sword and shield, but crusaders all the same. It is a faithful record of a grim romance of modern life and it is a picture everyone is waiting for.

MILLINERY EFFECTS.

"Tam-o-Shanter" Popular.

One of the most daring of the Paris designers has refused absolutely to create any more small, brimless shapes. His hats, he says, shall soften the faces of his clients, even if they sometimes show a good deal of one side of the forehead. And they do, with effects which you are not quite sure whether you like or not, but which certainly "grow on you" after a while.

The old-fashioned "tam o' shanter" is becoming such a voyage in Paris now that one may say it has entirely ousted the Empress Eugenie hat of which Parisiennes are heartily tired. It is worn in the time-honoured style tilted to one side of the head, and well forward over one eye, with a feather placed near the back, sticking straight up in the air.

Fashion Brevities.

White satin makes lovely gala gowns, plain or fringed here and there with silver embroidery.

A gown seen on a woman once, never again produces an impression. The second time she wears it her appearance is taken for granted.

A new gown or a new hat makes any woman seem elated or beautiful. Feeling beautiful is as good as being so.

Several times I have seen colourful feather collars on evening wraps or used on gowns. Watch ostrich feathers, for they are going to be interesting things.

Ostrich feather fans are making a big splash. When carried they are a gorgeous note of colour.

Long gloves are being worn for evening wear as much as ever, and usually match the colour of the gown.

Like this bathing suit? It's a "half-and-half" model, with a waist of strikingly contrasting colours. Inside it, incidentally, is Miss Blanche Martin of Chicago. She's a sun-and-sea bather at Miami Beach, Fla.

One of the two-piece creations, offered by designers this year to women who are wondering what not to wear, consists merely of a brassiere and shorts, with nothing in between but a shudder for the easily-shocked. Such a suit, properly fitted, is pictured above. It appeared first at Biarritz, then at Palm Beach, and recently has been approved at Atlantic City.

LEARNING TO WALK WELL.

(By A Mannequin)

An upright carriage, a well-poised head, and an even, graceful walk are not only great assets to a woman's looks but are actually aids to health. The best way to correct bad habits in walking is to follow the practice of the mannequin.

The mannequin trains by walking along a straight line, placing one foot immediately in front of the other in the manner of a tight-rope walker. This can easily be done by following a line in the pattern of a carpet, or in the absence of a pattern, by moving along the edge of one. Anywhere, in fact, where there is space to walk a few yards, preferably in front of a mirror, so that it is possible to watch one's progress.

Now to walk in the street in the manner of a rope-walker would, of course, look quite ridiculous and exaggerated. But to use this idea as a method of practice will correct any tendency to turn the toes in, or too far in an outward direction, which is equally ugly. It also corrects a tendency noticeable in some women—to swing one leg—usually the right one—completely across in front of the other.

Your foot-work mastered, next in importance comes that of the other extremity. So now take your eyes—but not your mind—off your feet and try balancing a book on the top of your head while continuing to walk as before. You will find that you have unconsciously assumed a "look-the-whole-world-in-the-face" attitude. This one is prevented from allowing the chin to sag down on to the neck, and, equally, from tilting it too far back.

Incidentally, from the moment of ceasing to watch your toes, you will find your ankles just brushing one another in an even, graceful stride. To guard against round shoulders place a walking stick across the back and hold it in position under the arms. This will draw the figure up to an almost military bearing. After pacing a few minutes—still

SHORT CUTS TO BEAUTY.

Before a "Perm."

Give the hair a warm olive oil bath the night before you have a permanent wave. It will put it in the right mood for the treatment, will counteract the drying tendency of the hair and give a deeper, more lustrous looking wave.

Use rain water whenever you can get it. It acts as a tonic on the skin as well as a cleanser and it makes the face soft and velvety. Use it warm.

Learn to "produce" your looks and personality. Beauty, like charm, is so much a matter of technique. When in doubt, smile. We may not be able to bring much to the conversation on social occasions, but a smile is always welcome.

Always polish your nails on the buffer before applying varnish. It will keep them looking pink and pretty much longer.

RICE RISsoles.

Boil 6 oz. of rice in salted water until soft, but not to a pulp. Drain and keep hot until dry. Then line a buttered tin dish with some of it, pressing it well on to the sides and bottom of the dish.

Put in a layer of slices of cooked meat, add some minced onion, parsley, and salt and pepper. Pour in some stock or gravy; and cover with more of the cooked rice; add a few small pieces of butter, and bake a pale brown. Serve with boiled or baked potatoes.

with the book balanced—remove these "aids," and continue without them.

The stick will have imposed some stiffness to the figure, which it is not necessary to hold. Its point of usefulness lies in keeping the shoulders erect.

BLUEJACKET'S DEATH AFTER VISIT TO DENTIST

Police Court Disclosure

Two Unregistered Practitioners

The death of a British bluejacket, who succumbed to a septic throat after having had a tooth filled by a man practising as a dentist in Hongkong, later to be extracted by the ship's surgeon, was mentioned in the Police Court this morning.

Complaints of serious developments following dental operations by certain persons led to action by the police and the discovery that two Chinese, who had been practising for some time past, were not qualified or registered persons.

NO ACTION POSSIBLE.

It was stated that no action was taken following the death of the British bluejacket as it could not be proved whether the sailor developed septic throat as a result of the capping of the tooth or of the subsequent extraction.

A debit note describing him as a dentist was produced as evidence against Mak Kai-ming who was alleged to have held himself out, by means of private advertisement, to be a dentist, whereas he was other than a registered dental surgeon or an exempted person.

The defendant was alleged to have carried on business at 10, Queen's Road Central, and the summons brought against him referred to an incident on June 7 last.

The defendant said he was a dental contractor but admitted having handed the debit note on which was written an appointment with Detective Sergeant Heimsley, to the officer on June 7.

SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES.

Detective Inspector John Murphy, who conducted the prosecution, informed his Worship that the defendant, together with another man who lived at another address, were being brought before his Worship with the full concurrence of the Government. It has come to the notice of the Government that certain people had gone to unqualified dentists and had had dental operations performed on them. These had been unsuccessful and very serious consequences had resulted.

The Hon. Inspector General of Police was requested to take action and a European sergeant (Detective Sergeant Heimsley) was sent to the defendant's offices at 10, Queen's Road Central on June 7. The detective asked the defendant if he would be his dentist, and the defendant said he would. The detective then said he was very busy and did not have the time then, but suggested an appointment. It was agreed that the detective should return the following day. The officer was given a debit note, on which the defendant was described as a dentist.

The next day the officer went back with a Chinese detective and got the defendant's name.

NOT IN LIST.

Inspector Murphy drew his Worship's attention to the Section of the Ordinance under which the defendant was summoned and also to Section 4, sub-section 4, of the Ordinance, which provides for the registration of qualified dental surgeons and remarked that it there stated that "no person whose name does not appear in the Government Gazette is a dentist."

A copy of the registered dental surgeons was handed to his Worship. Inspector Murphy remarked that the defendant's name did not appear among the names.

His Worship:—Has he got a plate or anything?

Inspector Murphy:—He has displayed outside the door a picture of a set of false teeth and his name, but the word "dentist" does not occur. That would be a public advertisement, but this charge is in respect of a private advertisement.

His Worship:—It is not known how long this has been going on is it?

Inspector Murphy:—He has been practising for some time, I understand.

His Worship:—This advertisement, has that been going on for very long?

$200 FINE.

Inspector Murphy:—No it holds himself out to be a dentist. The average man in the street would not know whether he was qualified or not. It would be necessary to refer to the Gazette to know whether he was qualified or not.

His Worship imposed a fine of $200 and said that he regarded the offence as a very serious one and it was very misleading to the public when an unqualified person held himself out to be a dentist.

Allegations that a client had developed a septic throat following a visit to the defendant's offices were made when Inspector Murphy summoned Kwan Chuk-wah.

The defendant said the firm did not bear his name.

Inspector Murphy said the card which was produced to Detective Sergeant R. A. Gould bore the name of "James Mac." There was an office at 39, Queen's Road Central, known as "James Mac, Dental Office." James Mac himself was at present in the country. He has been practising in Hongkong as a dentist for some time and had a large clientele of Europeans and Chinese.

POLICE VISIT.

On June 7, a European sergeant was sent to James Mac. The police knew at that time that James Mac was not in the Colony. The sergeant went to the office and met the defendant and said he wanted to see the dentist. He asked if the defendant were the dentist and the accused replied "Yes." The sergeant then asked the defendant if he would take a tooth out for him, and the defendant's reply was that he would. The sergeant indicated the tooth, but said he could not have it extracted at that time but asked if he could have it pulled out at 4.30 p.m. the following day.

The defendant accepted the time suggested and gave the officer a card which bore the name of James Mac, 29, Queen's Road Central, first floor. The defendant asked the defendant his name and the sergeant gave it, but the defendant did not tell the officer his own name.

Any person going to the defendant's office, continued Inspector Murphy, and having handed him a card like the one given to the sergeant, would presume that the defendant was James Mac, dentist. As a matter of fact, James Mac was not a dentist. By handing the officer the card, the defendant had held himself out to be a qualified dentist.

The law officers of the Crown had been consulted before the summons was brought, added Inspector Murphy.

In reply to his Worship defendant admitted that he gave the card to the officer and remarked that the sergeant did not ask him for his name.

SAILOR'S CASE.

Inspector Murphy:—Complaints were made to the Government about certain operations which were carried out at the office at which the defendant is practising. As a result of some operations carried out on the persons became seriously ill and had to be treated in hospital because the operations were not properly carried out.

His Worship:—Apparently there had been no previous case of this kind come to light during the last few years.

Inspector Murphy:—One particular case where a sailor was treated at 39, Queen's Road and got a tooth capped or filled I am not sure which. The tooth subsequently became septic and the surgeon on board the ship decided that the tooth had to come out and it was extracted. The sailor developed septic tonsillitis and other throat troubles. His condition became serious and he died. It could not be said whether the capping of the tooth or the extraction of the tooth caused death, and there was no charge of manslaughter brought. It would have been difficult for the Crown to prove whether the capping of the tooth or the extraction caused death.

His Worship:—It seems on the facts the defendant did hold himself out as a dentist and that he held himself out as James Mac.

SAME FINE.

Inspector Murphy:—The average man going into the office would not know who James Mac was and would simply think that the defendant was James Mac. The sergeant did not know who the defendant was.

His Worship:—I think he must pay the same fine as the other man.

Inspector Murphy:—If anything, this case is more serious.

His Worship:—Of course the charge is just the same. There's no public advertisement mentioned in this case, otherwise the penalty would be heavier, $200.

SILVER IN THE DOLDRUMS

HONGKONG DOLLAR UNCHANGED

Once again, the Hongkong dollar is unchanged to-day. The local market is dead, with a slightly easier undertone. Silver is unchanged in London, where the market is featureless and business very small. After the official fixing, the market ruled idle. New York reports silver down 1/8th, on a dull market.

FRENCH LADY VIOLINIST

TO APPEAR HERE VERY SHORTLY

In speaking of the artistry of Mme. Chemet, the noted French violinist, who will give a recital here during the latter part of the month, the musical critic of the Japan Times wrote as follows:—"She came, She played, She conquered . . . the tone she produces from her violin—the finest Galiano I have ever heard—rich in sonority and savoury. She should even be ranked, without much hesitation, among the best men violinists, whose names are so familiar with the musical world."

According to the proposed arrangements a concert will be given in the King's Theatre on Friday 24th June. The event promises to be one of the most interesting musical treats ever afforded enthusiasts in Hongkong.

CANTON CHOLERA OUTBREAK

AUTHORITIES TAKE PRECAUTIONS

Canton, June 14. Owing to the recent serious outbreak of cholera in Canton, rules governing the sale of ice-cream, cold drinks and perishable fruits and uncooked vegetables have been submitted to the Canton Municipal Government by the Bureau of Safety and Health. These have been approved by the Government. The rules forbid sale of ice-cream unless approved by the Government medical authorities, also all kinds of gelatine food (Liang Fun) with the exception of aerated waters in bottles. Anyone violating these rules is liable to a fine not exceeding $5 or five days imprisonment for the first offence, and $15 for the second offence, or 15 days imprisonment. These rules became effective as from last Saturday.

General Au Pong-po, the Provincial Financial Commissioner, has submitted certain schemes to adjust the local finances. These have now been put into operation with the result that the value of the Central Bank notes has considerably advanced. It is hoped that the financial authorities will soon be able to redeem the bank-notes of $1, $10 and $100 which are at present at a discount.

The 4th meeting of the Bureau of Education was held last Friday. Mr. Luk Yau-kwong, Director of the Bureau taking the chair. The rules governing school inspectors and the duties to be performed by them was approved, also an application sent to the Bureau of Health recommending of a medical practitioner to take care of sick students of the Municipal schools in the city. It was also decided that a new kind of text-book be used by the primary schools. —Our Own Correspondent.

CORRESPONDENCE.

British Films.

[To the Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.]

Sir,—After reading your correspondence columns on the subject of British films, I wish to add a few points to the topic.

The letter in the Telegraph of the 13th instant is full of sound sense, but there are several points the writer forgot to mention.

M. G. M. produces British dramas on a large scale, mainly because they are wonderful, excellent and well written. But did the writer ever know M.G.M. ever try to produce such plays as "Lord Babs," (an excellent British comedy) and "To Oblige a Lady?"

Why M.G.M. produces so much British dramas is for the simple reason that the Americans act and make the play a picture full of sense. M.G.M. know and have proved to the public that British dramas are just as good, in fact better than some American dramas. M.G.M. producers choose the right kind of plays for the right players, that's the main reason why M.G.M. produce British dramas which are big sellers and gain the favour of the public.

M.G.M. have completed arrangements to distribute British films throughout their theatres in America. Why? We all get tired of eating steaks every day; we want a change. So does every theatre goer. All American and the same characters over and over again—that gets you tired, doesn't it?

Then what is produced must be used, no matter if it doesn't bring in a profit. All business men know that.—Yours, etc.

THEATRE-GOER.

Traffic Noises.

Sir,—Some considerable time ago members of the A. A. received a circular stating that the I.G.P. would appreciate their co-operation in reducing traffic noises particularly unnecessary sounding of horns, etc. I now suggest that the police themselves could usefully assist in attaining that end. They have recently bought a large emergency van for Kowloon, and this is fitted with a siren which is used on all occasions instead of a horn. I submit that the siren should only be used in cases of real emergency, to clear traffic off the road. It is ridiculous to hear a blast and then watch the van rounding a corner at a steady 8 miles per hour! Further, this practice defeats the object of the siren, as people get so used to hearing it on normal occasions that they will not give the van a clear passage should trouble arise, not realising that it had arisen.

For similar reasons, I suggest that fire engines should not use their sirens or bells when on practice runs, or returning from a fire, but only when proceeding to one.—Yours, etc.,

NOTTS LOSE EXCITING MATCH

London, June 14.
HOBBS, WHOSE FORM TO DATE had been rather below par, returned to power with a vengeance to-day, when he scored two separate centuries against Essex—the outstanding achievement of the county cricket programme.

Three other veterans also performed to good effect, Philip Mead carrying his bat for 104, Geary again proving the mainstay of the Leicester attack, and "Farmer" White bowling so effectively as to cause the defeat of Notts at the hands of Somerset. There was a thrilling finish to the match, the West-erners winning by 13 runs.

COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Surrey beat Essex at the Oval by 9 wickets.

HOBBS STRIKES FORM.

Two Brilliant Innings Against Essex.

Hobbs accomplished a distinguished performance against Essex, when in Surrey's first inning he not only scored his first century of the season, but added another when the winners batted a second time.

Surrey won by nine wickets, the Essex total being 207 and 286, O'Connor scoring 104 in the second knock.

Surrey compiled 243 in their first venture, Hobbs hitting up 113, and Nichols taking 5 wickets for 67. Thanks to a brilliant partnership by Hobbs (119 not out) and Gregory (113 not out) Surrey scored 251 for 1 wicket to win with ease.

DURSTON AND ROBINS.

Play Chief Part In Defeat of Worcester.

Worcester, beaten by eight wickets, were dismissed for 279 and 90. Durston caused the damage in the first innings taking 5 for 26, and R.W.V. Robins excelled himself in the second innings when he secured 6 for 45. Middlesex first replied with 161. Jackson 5 for 45 and hit off the 209 required runs to win for the loss of two wickets.

AMERICANS BEATEN.

No Match For Aggressive Leicester.

Leicester had things all their own way against the South Americans winning by an innings and 33 runs.

Leicester compiled 261, and then dismissed the visitors for 112 and 116. Geary and Snary wrought the damage in the first innings, the former taking 4 for 32 and the latter 4 for 35.

INDIANS BAT WELL.

Another Century For Amar Singh.

Amar Singh and Naidu batted finely for the Indians when they met Lancashire and fully held their own in a drawn game.

The Indians put together the useful score of 493, Amar Singh scoring 131 not out, and Naidu 125, this being their reply to Lancashire's total of 390, to which Paynter contributed 153. The visitors scored 36 for 2 in their second venture.

THRILLING FINISH.

Somerset accomplished their best performance of the season when they defeated Notts by 13 runs after a fine fighting finish. Somerset scored 242 in their first knock and 196 at the second time of asking, Larwood bagging 5 wickets for 56 runs.

Notts were behind on the first innings their score reaching 219, "Farmer" White taking half the wickets for 58 runs, and their final effort realised 206.

MOVE THAT FAILED.

Derby Declare and Are Beaten. After declaring in the second innings, Derby suffered defeat by six wickets at the hands of Hampshire.

Derby compiled 318 to start with, to which Hampshire responded with 234.

Smith hit up 103 not out when Derby batted a second time and applied the closure at 219 for 8, but so magnificently did Arnold and Mead bat, that Hampshire won with plenty to spare, obtaining the 307 runs required for the loss of 4 wickets. Arnold scored 100 and Mead 104 not out.

EASY FOR WARWICK.

Northants Overcome By 7 Wickets. Warwick easily defeated Northants by seven wickets. Northants put together totals of 101 and 259, to which the winners replied with 274 and 147 for 3.

Shanghai Golf Tournament

PICKFORD WINS BY 5 AND 4

H. L. Pickford won the President's Prize, presented by C. M. G. Burnie in the Hongkong Golf Club's competition just completed, when he defeated G. F. H. Richard, five and four, after a match which was hotly contested in its early stages, particularly.

Richard, a 22 handicap man, defeated M. Boniface, 18, in the first round, one up, and Richard beat R. G. MacDonald, 11, by five and four.

C. H. Arnold fell before Richard in the second round and Pickford disposed of E. O. Cumming, three and two. This match was tough and went throughout.

The third round saw Richard up against stiffer competition, with L. McGoldrick, 12, forcing the pace. But he won, three and five.

Pickford managed a six and five victory over D. P. Dumbarton, 24. With the quarter finals both finalists were in fine form, playing excellent golf, Pickford disposing of A. J. Kane, who had come manfully up through the preceding rounds, and Richard taking K. M. Cumming's measure.

The semi-final saw G. D. Nicholl fall to Pickford, by two up, and V. Clair went under by just one to Richard's steady play. Both Nicholl and Clair are 9 men. There was a sterling fight for honours and they were, as a matter of fact, favoured for joint finalists.

Pickford made no mistake in the finals, however, and by careful play stayed even with his opponent and took advantage of the other's mishap. The match was well contested.

FRENCH TENNIS FEELS THE PINCH

Lawn Tennis Association Facing $2,600 Deficit.

A deficit of $2,600 has given the French Lawn Tennis Association added incentive to urge the tri-colour forces on to victory in the 1932 Davis Cup matches. Dr. George Collet, treasurer, reports that unless the cup remains in France for at least another year the obligation cannot be met.

NEW TENNIS "FIND"

POLISH WOMAN'S GREAT FEAT

The surprise defeat of Miss Helen Jacobs in the lawn tennis tournament at Berlin indicates the possibility of the rise of a new European star. Miss Jadwiga Jadrzejowska, the woman champion of Poland, was her conqueror. She won by 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

Miss Jacobs is America's second strongest player, and while last year she was below par and was defeated at Wimbledon in the semi-final round by the German girl Fridein Krawinkel, it has been claimed by American writers that she had this season recovered her best form.

Miss Jadrzejowska first came under notice during the Wimbledon championships last season. She entered for the women's singles event and was defeated in the first round by Mrs. L. A. Godfree, a former holder, only after a very hot fight by 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The Polish player was defeated on the Riviera this year by Miss Payot, and in Warsaw this month by Miss Ida Adamoff (6-2, 6-3). It is clear, therefore, that Miss Jadrzejowska's triumph over Miss Jacobs will need amplification before it can be claimed that she seriously challenges existing ranking.

Qualify to Meet Japan

Montreux, June 14.

Italy qualified to meet Japan in the semi-final of the European Zone of the Davis Cup when in the concluding matches against Switzerland, Palmieri beat Aeschlimann to secure for Italy the vital rubber.

Afterwards, de Stefani, Italy's No. 1 lost to Fisher in a five-set match. When the match was resumed Italy was leading by 2 rubbers to 1, and Palmieri quickly made certain of the result by defeating Aeschlimann in straight sets. The only time the Swiss player showed any sort of fight was in the third set which went to twelve games.

Fisher staged a brilliant recovery against Stefani, when, after being two sets down, the second being lost to nil, he suddenly leapt into form, won the third set after a tense fight of 16 games, levelled up at the fourth games, levelled up at the fourth games, levelled up at the fourth games.

With another long set of 8-6, and finally vanquished his opponent in a remarkable display of stamina, winning the final set at 8-6.

The scores as cabled by Reuter, were:—Palmieri (Italy) beat Aeschlimann (Switzerland) 6-3, 6-1, 7-5. Fisher (Switzerland) beat de Stefani (Italy) 3-6, 6-0, 9-7, 8-6, 8-6.—Reuter.

WIGHTMAN CUP

HOW AMERICA WON

TAKE FIRST 4 RUBBERS

LOSERS RECOVER

Although the final scores in themselves indicated that Britain gave America a good run for their money in the Wightman Cup tennis contest at Wimbledon this was far from the case, the winners annexing the first four rubbers before allowing England to recover.

In the first day's play, America repeated her performance of 1931, when she won all three matches, and it only needed Mrs. Helen Wills Moody to capture the first match on the second day to assure the Wightman Cup resting in the donor's country for yet another year. The world's leading lady player made no mistake bending Miss Dorothy Round in straight sets.

MRS. MOODY SUPREME.

Mrs. Moody started the ball rolling by vanquishing Mrs. Fearnley Whittingstall in the first rubber of the series to the tune of 6-2, 6-4, and Miss Helen Jacobs followed this up by overcoming Miss E. D. Round in straight sets.

Encouraged by these successes, America went on from strength to strength and rounded off a wonderful day by winning the first doubles event, Mrs. Harper and Miss Jacobs beating Miss Round and Mrs. Mitchell (Miss Peggy Saunders).

On Saturday, Miss Round tried conclusions with Helen Wills but met the customary fate, losing in two sets, and it was only after this, with the trophy safely tucked away, that America eased up.

BRITAIN RECOVERS.

Mrs. Fearnley Whittingstall achieved Britain's first success when she beat Miss Helen Jacobs after a keen three set match, and then Mrs. King (Miss Phyllis Mudford) added a second rubber by overcoming Mrs. Lawrence Harper in a match of 25 games.

Britain continued to display the better form and finished up in a blaze of glory, taking the final doubles match.

The results and scores, with the exception of the last doubles rubber, were:—

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody (U.S.A.) beat Mrs. Fearnley Whittingstall (Britain) 6-2, 6-4.

Miss Helen Jacobs (U.S.A.) beat Miss D. E. Round (Britain) 6-4, 6-3.

Mrs. Wills Moody beat Miss Round 6-2, 6-3.

Mrs. Fearnley Whittingstall beat Miss Jacobs 6-4, 2-6, 6-1.

ASCOT OPENS

THEIR MAJESTIES ATTEND

London, June 14.

Glorious cloudless weather today favoured the opening of Ascot Meeting, one of the leading social and sporting events of the season.

The King and Queen, together with members of their family, followed their usual custom of driving along the course to the Royal Box in four-horse open carriages. The lawns and paddocks were crowded, and their Majesties were given a tumultuous reception by a huge crowd.

The course was in splendid condition and the entries were exceptionally large.—British Wireles.

FRANCE'S TEAM FOR WIMBLEDON

Imposing Array of First Class Players

The French Tennis Federation has named the team which will represent the country at the world championships soon to be played at Wimbledon. The team is made up of Cochet, Boussus, Borotra, Brugnon, Feret, Morin, Muc, Mathieu and Mile. Colette Rosambert. The participation of Rene Lacoste is uncertain.

SHORT FUNDS FOR THE OLYMPICS

ALL THE NATIONS AFFECTED

European teams are not the only ones going to the Olympic games under a financial strain. The United States representatives too, are likely to be considerably reduced if the financial crisis which the Olympic committee is facing now is not rectified in the near future.

Avery Brundage of Chicago, President both of the Olympic committee and the National Amateur Athletic Union, stated that a meeting was recently called to discuss ways and means of cutting down the U. S. team, depending upon the outcome of a forthcoming campaign for money. In any case, he said, we are faced with the sharp necessity for economy.

"If it means that we cannot raise enough money to send more than half-a-dozen athletes to Los Angeles we will not send more than half-a-dozen," he said.

To date, approximately $40,000 has been obtained toward the aggregate 1932 American Olympic Fund of $350,000, fixed for the handling of a full delegation in all sports. Most of this sum is already involved as the Olympic committee's share of team expenses for the Winter games last February in Lake Placid.

SEARCH FOR FUNDS.

In other words, as Mr. Brundage pointed out, the Committee is now virtually starting from scratch in its nation-wide search for funds with which to transport and board approximately 400 athletes, coaches and officials for the Summer Olympic games in California.

"Naturally, as the host nation, we feel we should be represented fully in all branches of competition," said Brundage, "but we shall have to be obliged to cut our entries in some events and exact economy all along the line."

A programme for economy has been set out and includes the following three features: 1. No extra coaches for any team; 2. No trainers; 3. Confine entries only to competitors of Olympic calibre.

"We may as well face the music now and consider drastic measures otherwise we may come down to ward the tryouts 'holding the bag,'" the President concluded.

MAN HUNTERS

She walked on air to Michigan avenue. Despite the fact that the society editors declared no one stayed in Chicago for the dog-days there was, as usual, a well-dressed, alert-eyed throng of shoppers on the avenue. The day was a gift from the gods. Cool, almost sharp breeze was and there were white caps ruffling the cobalt surface of the "inland sea."

Susan drew great breaths and was glad to be alive—glad to be on the sunny side of 20—glad to be meeting this particular young man.

He came toward her, detaching himself from the little group in the lobby, and she felt a lift of the heart at sight of that tall, well-knit figure in its perfectly fitting grey flannels.

He lifted his hat, and the simple action sent her heart rearing and plunging like a wild thing.

"You look awfully fit!" The clipped voice was just as Susan remembered it. Not for nothing had Bob Dunbar spent several years at British schools.

She smiled at him, almost too happy to speak. "You, too," she said softly. She wondered why she was always at ease with this boy. She had known him such a little while and yet it was always as if they were renewing an old and delightful acquaintance. It was as if they had known each other forever.

He leaned across the table, his blue eyes darkening as he stared at her frankly, quite as if he'd never seen her before.

"I like you in that pink thing," he said slowly. And a strange thing happened. The room, the other hunters, the waiters, murmuring in a corner, the music muted from the strings of a discreet orchestra, and seemed to vanish. The boy and girl were alone. Yet all she said was, "Thank you. Her voice shook ever so little as she formed the words.

"I'm going abroad again," said the boy, still looking at her strangely and deeply. "Father wants me to. I wanted to say goodbye."

The word rang like a knell in Susan's heart yet, being a woman, she summoned a fixed smile to answer him.

"Going abroad?" she repeated, no longer stupid yet unable for the moment to find other words.

He grinned and played with his fork. "Yes. Thought I was to stay here and go into the business."

She said "I'm sorry," and the words struck her as being painfully inadequate.

"So am I." His mouth twisted whimsically as he looked at her. "It hasn't all gone as I thought it would."

The waiter arrived with a tray of little silver dishes and Susan hated him. There was an interval and then they were alone again in the vast, deserted, murmuring room once more.

"Well, that's that!" Bob Dunbar told her. His laugh sounded nervous and harsh. "Perhaps you'll still be around when I come back."

"When will that be?"
 "Oh, late fall—by Christmas, at the outside."

Christmas—Christmas—Christmas—Susan felt as though she was suffocating. To find love, all at once, and have it snatched away. Those large, fringed eyes, grey and black by turn, were raised to his.

"That's right. I wanted to tell you something. I would have before but the family's been pestering me all summer. Been keeping me out of town. Treating me like a kid in grade school. But you must know—you must have guessed before this—"

Susan left joy suffusing her, washing over her like warm rain. Into the waters of this tete-a-tete there dropped the tiniest of pebbles. A girl's voice, slow and drawing and insolent, broke across Bob Dunbar's. The strange voice said, "Wherever have you been, darling? I've been missing you so."

Susan glanced up to find the red-haired girl who had been at the Strinsky's party staring impudently at her. But the words were addressed to Bob Dunbar who had sprung to his feet.

VEHICULAR CLINIC

The Government's well-known progressive policy in connexion with medical and sanitary affairs within the Colony is further exemplified by the newest addition to the many facilities at its disposal for the medical assistance of residents in the New Territories.

This takes the form of a "Clinic" motor van, which was yesterday on display to the public at the Kowloon Hospital, and which to-day starts its duties as a means of quick relief for suffering humanity in the more isolated villages on the Peninsula.

A handsome looking vehicle, the motor van is a six-wheeler Morris with a Vickers' body. It is highly powered, and is essentially a utility car, capable of travelling over almost any road.

Complete Dispensary.

It is fitted with a complete dispensary, and has the necessary equipment for First Aid treatment. Accompanying the van on its tours around the Territories will be a doctor and a dresser.

The vehicular "Clinic" by means of which it will be possible to serve the whole of the Kowloon peninsula, will be housed at Fanling, but every day will pay visits to the various villages. A daily time table has been arranged, so that the Clinic will be visiting certain villages at a stated hour, and each day it will visit three or four different villages.

The property of the Government, it is the first vehicle of its kind to be used in Kowloon, and will prove an inestimable boon to the natives in the scattered villages of the New Territories.

Those who saw it at the Kowloon Hospital yesterday, where Dr. K. H. Uttley, Medical Officer of Health, explained its equipment and duties, were loud in their praise of such a medical aid.

THE WEATHER

The Subject of Typhoons.
You would probably be dissatisfied if I sat down without touching upon the subject of typhoons. A typhoon is the local name for a tropical cyclone; in the South Indian Ocean and the Bay of Bengal it is termed a cyclone, and in the West Indies, a hurricane. The passage of a typhoon is at best a troublesome and uncomfortable episode, but I have frequently met newcomers anxious for the experience. Strangely enough, he (or she) usually expects something of the dramatic nature recorded in the writings of those novelists who deal with the romantic tales of the South Pacific Ocean. The summary way disaster strikes these island communities makes a great appeal to the imagination, but during the passage of the majority of typhoons, the sequence of weather changes lacks the dramatic character beloved of the South Sea novelist.

It is most unfortunately true, however, that dramatic and tragic consequences are not unknown here, but usually the sum total of the average citizen's experience is discomfort. In spite of the wonderful expansion of Kowloon during recent years, this City of Victoria remains the business centre of the Colony, and a large number of the Colony's workers are faced with uncomfortable or interrupted transport, while the high wind and heavy rainfall of a typhoon continue. For those who have not necessarily to fare abroad the house becomes something of a prison, all windows and shutters are bolted and barred, but nevertheless permit quantities of water to enter through previously unsuspected cracks, leaks appear in roofs, and servants are kept busy with buckets. In former times the electric light frequently failed, adding another discomfort to the lot of the prisoner.

Disaster Recalled.

Occasionally dire disaster accompanies disaster. These residents who still remember the tragedy of September 1906 will need no reminding of the toll of shipping and typhoon approaches, the clear sky human life that is exacted on such occasions. More frequently, extensive damage is done to trees and vegetation generally, while the effect of continuous rain is occasionally manifested in landslides and collapses.

How, when and where do typhoons originate.

The older books state that vigorous convection of the air in tropical regions, aided by the deflective force of the earth's rotation are jointly responsible for a spiral motion of the winds round a centre or vortex. This circulation attains a progressive motion through the agency of the upper currents in the earth's atmosphere, and owes its energy to the latent heat of its copious precipitation. Of late years much of this has been doubted particularly the vertical nature of the central region, much that is destructive has been written, and little that is constructive. It seems advisable therefore to turn to the remainder of the question, where by reason of actual observation we are on surer ground.

Typhoons (cyclones or hurricanes) originate between 10° and 18° latitude over the oceans to the eastward of continental areas and are most frequent in the summer of the hemisphere concerned. The direction of motion is westward, with a varying inclination towards the pole of the hemisphere, but there are occasions when the track is definitely polewards and some, where it is subject to recurvature, a quick change of 90° away from the Equator, resulting in a north-easterly direction of progress.

In the Far East the majority of typhoons form in the Pacific at varying distances eastward of the Philippine Islands, they advance towards the China coast on various tracks, and in the cases of northerly courses or recurvature, eventually reach Japan; other typhoons form in the China Sea, and move towards Indo-China. The islands of Formosa and Hainan are crossed or affected by many typhoons during the course of each summer.

Effect in Hongkong.

The first effect of a typhoon upon Hongkong is usually a spell of bright and hot weather. As the der of the toll of shipping and typhoon approaches, the clear sky human life that is exacted on such occasions.

approximation of the typhoon track may be rather than the nature of the clouds. If the track is to the south of Hongkong, the clouds are detached and move from N. or N.E., while the visible blue sky is clear. If the storm is heading north of Hongkong, the sky is more completely covered, the clouds move from N. or N.W., and are less sharply defined owing to haze. The temperature is higher than in the former case.

During the passage of a typhoon south of the Colony, the wind veers from North through East to South; during a passage to the North of the Colony the wind backs from North through West to South. In the former case rainfall is plentiful, in the latter, the rainfall although plentiful, is sometimes not experienced until the typhoon has gone ashore. In both cases the changes in wind direction are quick, the nearer the centre of the typhoon passes to the Colony, and in the rare cases when the typhoon passes directly over the Colony, no gradual change of wind direction is discerned, the wind ceasing abruptly as the central calm approaches, recommencing suddenly from the opposite direction as the central calm passes.

The damage done by the storm depends on the velocity of the wind combined with the heavy rain. The combination invariably finds the weak points of buildings, causing breakage and leaks, and is especially fatal to trees, the roots of which do not penetrate deeply into the earth. Falling trees and flying debris cause havoc with overhead wires for electric light, telephones, etc. These services are now mainly carried underground, and interruption is rare, whatever the severity of the storm. As the wind force increases, the waters of the harbour are lashed into foam, and much water is cast up on the different piers, causing damage to the road surface. Small craft hurry to shelter at the earliest sign of danger, their occupants being well aware that destruction is the probable lot of those who linger. Steamships leave the harbour when possible and anchor in one of the adjacent bays. All steam upon their anchors to relieve the strain of the wind and sea. The necessity for this was exemplified in 1923, when the Loongsang being without steam drifted through the harbour and sank near the piers.

The progress of the typhoon may be estimated by observing the fall of the barometer. A gradual fall and recovery signify that the centre is at a considerable distance, whilst a sharp decline and recovery indicate its comparative nearness. In the majority of cases the highest wind velocity will be experienced as the barometer begins to rise, and sharp fluctuations will be noticed during the more severe squalls.

Distinctive Features.

There is much that could be said on this subject, but considerations of time forbid. Of the many local sayings concerning typhoons, some are correct but many are not, owing to the impossibility of generalizing upon phenomena no two of which seem to be alike. Each typhoon has its distinctive features and Rotarians would do well to disregard the local sayings entirely and rely upon the signals and reports issued by the Royal Observatory for their information.

In this connexion, it should be realised that when typhoons are at a considerable distance from the Colony the announcement of their positions depends upon reports received at considerable intervals, seldom more than four times daily. There is no possibility of giving intermediate positions, except by estimation from the assumed direction and velocity. When, however, the typhoon is affecting the barometers and anemometers at the Royal Observatory and the outlying light-houses of the Colony, its progress can be much more definitely noted. All information is passed to the public without delay, and telephonic requests to the Director for the latest information can only result in unnecessary repetition, and the engagement of the lines for such purposes results in the frequent delay of messages of general interest.

Without unduly stressing these remarks, I should like to appeal to those institutions etc. which have definite rules of procedure when the different signals are hoisted. The individual responsible for the carrying out of these instructions tries (probably most innocently) to throw the responsibility upon the Observatory by seeking to obtain information as to when the signals will be raised or lowered in order that he may intelligently anticipate events. This shows praiseworthy zeal, but is somewhat unfair to my staff and myself.

Storm warnings are the cause of much inconvenience and loss of valuable time in the commercial activities of this port, but they should be regarded as an insurance premium against possible disasters.

Questions.
There were some humorous touches at the conclusion of the address, when the chairman called for questions.

"When are we going to get the next typhoon?" "How long is this rain going to last?" were fired at Mr. Jeffries.

"I didn't come here prepared to answer questions," Mr. Jeffries replied, "but I did come here with one at the back of my mind. I would like to ask the honourable, the Director of Public Works if he requires an abnormal supply of rain to meet a normal consumption of water." (Laughter). In a witty speech, the Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton thanked Mr. Jeffries for his most interesting address.

Singapore Greetings.

Mr. Braddell spoke at the invitation of the chairman. He said he was very happy to bring the greetings of the Singapore Rotary Club to Hongkong. In the past the Singapore club had not had the pleasure of welcoming many from Hongkong, but he hoped to see more in the future.

By applying the objects of Rotary, he said, much good work could be done. In Singapore they had been able to accomplish much that had never been done before. Rotary was something worth encouraging. In Germany, Italy, France and Holland it was a big movement. The button of Rotary ensured for the wearer not only a fine social position but a sound business connexion. In Trieste (Italy) the best-known men were Rotarians and the same applied in most of the European capitals. He forewarned a great impetus to Rotary in England since Prince George had been elected patron of the Rotary International there.

Mr. Braddell stressed the value of the weekly addresses. Some people, he said, ask what good did the addresses do. They belonged to the self-satisfied class. Einstein attended them and he (the speaker) did not think many Rotarians would set their store of knowledge above Einstein's.

WIMBLEDON SEEDING

London, June 14.
The seedings for the Wimbledon Championships, which commence on Monday next, were announced to-day, revealing that the American challengers are fairly evenly distributed through the draw.

Mrs. Helen Wills-Moody naturally heads the women, and Miss Helen Jacobs is ranked No. 5.

The men's singles represents one curiosity, the elevation of Sydney Wood above H. W. Austin. This is doubtless accounted for by the lack of complete data regarding Austin's form this season, though his recent victory over Gregory Mangin was convincing enough.

MEN'S LIST.

The men's seedings follow:
H. Cochet ..... 1
Ellsworth Vines ..... 2
E. X. Shields ..... 3
F. J. Perry ..... 4
Sydney Wood ..... 5
H. W. Austin ..... 6

J. Borotra (Australia), Wilmer Allison and J. van Ryn head the men's doubles and Ellsworth Vines and Mrs. Moody head the seedings in the mixed doubles. —Reuter.

INDIA'S DEBT IN BRITAIN

BEING SUBSTANTIALLY

London, June 14.
The Secretary for India will repay to-morrow, the earliest possible redemption date, the outstanding balance of £3,604,600 of the India six per cent. bonds, 1932/33, issued in February, 1930. The total amount of the issue was £6,000,000, which has been reduced to the above figure by independent operations.

The outstanding balance, £11,213,428, of the India five and a half per cent. loan of 1932, of which the original amount was £22,500,000, was repaid last January.

The recent issue of India sterling stock was for £10,000,000 nominal. Thus, after allowing for this operation, the effect of repayment of these two loans is to reduce by a very large amount the outstanding total of Indian debt in Britain. —British Wireless.

Among the passengers leaving to-day by the Tatsuta Maru were Mr. S. Narain, proprietor of the Tajmahal Silk Store, and family. They are visiting Japan on a pleasure trip.

Sir Richard and Lady Squires, both defeated in the Newfoundland elections.

FOXX STEALS A MARCH

HITS HOME RUN WITH RUTH IDLE

New York, June 14.
Only two home runs were hit to-day, Jimmy Foxx increasing his advantage over Babe Ruth, while Chuck Klein, who heads the National League batting list, pounded out his sixteenth of the season.

The Yankees are rapidly putting themselves in an impregnable position. They won again to-day, while the Senators were pulverised at St. Louis and allowed themselves to become bracketed with Connie Mack's Athletics for second place. Results:

LOCAL LIQUOR DUTIES

REVISED SCALE OF

At to-morrow's meeting of the Legislative Council, the Colonial Treasurer will move a resolution rescinding the liquor duties resolutions of February 26th and March 17th.

The resolution will also provide that in the case of dutiable liquors heretofore or hereafter imported into the Colony the dollars and decimals thereof stated in the Table shall be conventional dollars reckon

UNREGISTERED MUI-TSAI

WOMAN'S TECHNICAL OFFENCE

Lo Ying-ping, a smart-looking Chinese lady dressed in European clothes, was charged before Mr. Fraser, at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, with having kept an unregistered mui-tai.

Sub-Inspector Fraser said the defendant had brought the mui-tai to the S.C.A. on June 10 for the purpose of notifying the authorities. The mui-tai, she had informed him, had been presented to her in the country by the parents, who were very poor. She had paid $120 for the transfer. Sub-Inspector Fraser informed his Worship that the mui-tai had been very well looked after by the defendant.

Mr. Fraser, addressing the defendant, said that it appeared she had adopted the proper course in the circumstances, and taking into consideration the fact that she had treated the girl very well, he would bind her over in a bond of $200 for twelve months.

A Japanese was charged before Mr. Fraser, at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, with having stowed away on the B.L. s.s. Talma from Kobe to Hongkong. A fine of $50, or one month's imprisonment was imposed.

ed as the equivalent of one shilling and eight pence sterling; and that consequently to arrive at the actual amount payable in Hongkong currency the conventional dollar stated in the Table shall be multiplied by 20 and divided by a figure settled by the Colonial Treasurer from time to time representing the average opening selling rates for the previous month of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation for demand drafts on London and until so settled the figure shall be 16.10.
